Shouts Close Greek Effort For Harmony

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — An extraordinary meeting of the Greek Parliament broke up in a shouting match Friday night, apparently killing Premier George Athanasiadis Novas' chances of winning a vote of confidence.

With less than a sixth of the 300-member chamber present, the speaker disbanded the tumultuous session declaring Parliament indefinitely suspended.

Compromise Expected

"Lack of a quorum constitutes, in my opinion, an indication of disapproval of the government," he said.

Authorities predicted that Athanasiadis Novas, 72, would be forced to turn over the leadership to a compromise candidate.

Parliament had convened to debate the tense political situation which has pitted King Constantine's government against ousted Premier George Papandreu and his supporters.

Athanasiadis Novas had hoped to get a vote of confidence next week, after a few days of debate. With Parliament suspended indefinitely, the odds appear against his chance of getting the constitutionally required mandate.

The chamber recessed twice for lack of a quorum. After it became clear the required 120 deputies could not be mustered, Speaker Emmanuel Baklatizis gave up.

Only the 20 Center Union party deputies, who make up Athanasiadis Novas' 15-day-old Cabinet, appeared for the start of the session.

After the first recess, total attendance rose to 80 deputies, with some members of the pro-Communist United Democratic Left, the rightist National Radical Union, and the small Progressive party joining in the heated exchanges.

Going To Count Meteoroids

Pegasus Soars Into Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Pegasus 3, a huge gleaming space bird whose feathers may be plucked by future space-strolling astronauts, soared into orbit Friday atop the thundering push of the last of the Saturn 1 superrockets.

Main assignment of the winged satellite is to help two earlier Pegasus payloads count meteoroids and the danger these streaking bits of space debris pose to long-term manned space flights.

In a year or so, after Pegasus 3 has completed its task, a Gemini astronaut wearing a rocket-powered backpack may emerge from his spacecraft, climb aboard the satellite, remove one or more detachable metal plates and bring them back to earth for analysis.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration emphasized the daring adventure would be attempted only if it appeared feasible at the time.

One official commented: "Putting the retrievable panels on the Pegasus was good advanced planning. If you don't put something up there, you won't ever be able to bring it back. We have not programmed retrieval of the panels for any particular Gemini flight. But its under study."

The massive Saturn 1, performing flawlessly as it had on nine previous flights, barreled away from Cape Kennedy right on schedule on 1.5 million pounds of thrust from a first-stage powerplant that spewed a tail of flame more than 300 feet long. The second stage fired with precision and hoisted the 23,100-pound satellite into an orbit ranging from 325 to 333 miles high.

During its four-year flight program here, Saturn 1 provided engineers with valuable information on how to develop and handle large complex rockets. It is forerunner of the more powerful Saturn 5, whose 7.5 million pounds of booster thrust will propel American astronauts toward the moon.

Once in space, Pegasus 3 unfolded two ling-like arms to a span of 96 feet, giving it the appearance of a great bird gliding across the skies. Spread over the surface with 208 paper-thin aluminum patches rigid electronically to measure meteoroid penetrations, their size, speed and direction. The information will help engineers develop materials to protect future spacecraft from the potential sandblast effect of meteor storms.

Forty-eight of the patches, each 11 inches by 16 inches and weighing less than an ounce, were fitted so they can easily be removed by an astronaut. A pliers or another snipping tool would be required to clip two thin wires.

The panels containing the removable sheets are ringed in phosphorous paint for identification and to help astronauts spot it in space.

Majs. James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II reported sighting three satellites during their Gemini 4 flight last month. One was believed to be Pegasus 2. During the Gemini 5 mission slated to start Aug. 19, Lt. Col. L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Lt. Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr. will attempt to spot the glowing Pegasus 3. The phosphorous also should make it easier for earth people to see the satellite as it passes overhead in darkness.

Cong Revive Big Attacks; Lull Is Over

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas revived their monsoon offensive with a strong attack Friday on a militia training center at Tan An, 75 miles southwest of Saigon. A U.S. spokesman said government casualties were heavy.

Coupled with the strike at Tan An was a Red shelling of Nghia Hanh, a district headquarters 85 miles south of Da Nang. Government losses there were termed very light.

Trying For Initiative

The guerrillas seemed to be trying for the initiative again after a lull of several days. Perhaps the lull was for regrouping.

U.S. and South Vietnamese planes have been striking daily at suspected Viet Cong holdings, sometimes in joint operations with ground troops. Though unconfirmed by body count, U.S. Air Force pilots reported Friday they had killed 160 guerrillas in the past 24 hours and U.S. Marine pilots estimated their kill at 58.

Briefing officers speculated the band that hit Tan An numbered from 125 to 500 men. Some were armed with machine guns and 57MM recoilless rifles. The militiamen managed to turn back a demolition squad that sought to blow up an ammunition dump at the center.

However, the Viet Cong blew up a bridge between Tan An and the nearby village of Cao Lanh. They fired five mortar shells and some smaller ammunition into the village, wounding a woman and two children.

Militia reinforcements moved into the area, but reported no contact with the Viet Cong. Enemy casualties, if any, were not determined.

There was a similar story from the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade, pursuing a sweep across a hilly sector 35 miles southeast of Saigon that was bombed by 25 B52 jets Thursday on a homeward flight from Okinawa to their base on Guam. For the second day in a row, no significant contact was reported.

Indonesia Mob Attacks, Stones U.S. Consulate

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — An anti-American crowd of more than 1,000 demonstrators stoned the U.S. consulate in Medan Friday and tore down the two-story building on the city's main street was broken.

Consul Theodore J. Heavner said the demonstrators destroyed the cement pillars of the gate and the fence. He said he and three other Americans — in addition to about a dozen Indonesians — were in the building during the attack but were not hurt by flying glass and stones.

Heavner said the demonstrators also cut the consulate's cable link to the U.S. Embassy in Jakarta.

He said the Indonesians first charged the fence around the building, tearing down the gate and rushing onto the lawn. From this vantage point they hurled stones at the windows.

The consulate called the police and 30 armed patrolmen arrived. But they did not interfere with the demonstrators.

U.S. officials immediately filed protests. Heavner complained to the Medan authorities and the U.S. Embassy contacted the Indonesian Foreign Office.

No Rain Seen For Area Today

Twin Cities skies will be clear to partly cloudy today with warmest temperatures staying in the high 80s and low 90s.

Predicted extremes for today are 66 to 70 and 88 to 92.

Friday's high was 87, recorded at 3 p.m. by FAA at Selman Field. The early morning low was 69.

No rainfall is forecast through today and it appears July will go out on a dry note in contrast to the 3.66 inches of rainfall recorded this month.

Winds today will be variable at 5-15 miles per hour.

U.S. Steps Up Peace Try In U.N. Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States stepped up its Viet Nam peace offensive Friday by calling on members of the U.N. Security Council to join in the search for a formula to end the expanding conflict.

Goldberg Makes Appeal

The appeal was made by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, who sent a letter by courier from Washington to Soviet Ambassador Platon D. Morozov, president of the 11-nation council for July.

President Johnson had urged U.N. Secretary-General U Thant on Wednesday to continue his Viet Nam peace efforts and Thant had replied Thursday night that he would use all means at his disposal to bring the problem to the negotiating table.

Goldberg asked Morozov to circulate the latest U.S. letter to all council members, but he did not ask for a council meeting. U.S. sources said Goldberg would fly to New York and attend a meeting if one is called at the request of other members.

Although the emphasis of the Goldberg letter was on peaceful settlement, the new U.S. delegate informed the council that the United States would continue to provide whatever assistance is needed to help South Viet Nam defend its independence.

He noted that President Johnson had already expressed the hope that U.N. members, individually and collectively, would use their influence to bring about Viet Nam negotiations, but he said the Security Council had a special responsibility in this field.

"The United States stands ready, as it has in the past, to collaborate unconditionally with members of the Security Council in the search for an acceptable formula to restore peace and security in that area of the world," he said.

USW Lays Down Strike Ultimatum

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union told the basic steel industry Friday it would strike the nation's mills Sept. 1 if no agreement is reached on a new contract.

The union and companies were reported to be 9 cents an hour apart with the union demanding 18 cents and the companies offering 9 cents.

The union called the industry inflexible, penny-pinching and unrealistic.

Chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper fired back: "My only regret is that the union reverts to the tired old tactic of trying to blame us."

Industry Replies

Cooper called a news conference less than an hour after the union's Wage policy Committee voted to serve a 30-day strike notice as of Aug. 1.

"The Steelworkers Union must know that the reopening notice will not persuade the companies to grant demands that are not in the best interests of employees, companies, customers and the nation," Cooper said.

Last Quintuplet Losing Ground

FALUN, Sweden (AP) — A tiny girl, the only survivor of Sweden's quintuplets, was reported in serious condition in an incubator Friday night.

The mother, Mrs. Maarten Ohlson, 30, and her high school teacher husband, 38, had said before the quint was born Thursday that they could not have enough children.

But three boys and a girl of the quintuplets died. The survivor is given a chance to live because she has come through the first critical 24 hours, but she weighs little more than 2 pounds. The quint was born 11 weeks prematurely.

Mrs. Ohlson was treated with a fertility drug developed by Dr. Carl-Axel Gemzell of Sweden's Uppsala University. The drug can cause multiple pregnancy.

This would make midnight Aug. 31 the earliest possible date for the nation's first strike since the crippling 116-day walkout of 1959.

The executive board had urged serving of strike notice and reported to the policy committee that, "Negotiations have indeed been intensive, but they have not been very constructive."

High Weeds In Empty Lot Yield Crime

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A Dallas dentist Friday night positively identified Shirley Ann Stark as one of the two bodies found Friday afternoon in a weed-grown vacant lot in north Austin.

Officers who have said they believed the second body was that of Susan Rigby, said the positive identification of it by another dentist probably would not be made until after midnight.

Death Cause Primary

The technical identification of the young women in Texas Department of Public Safety laboratories is secondary to efforts to determine their cause of death, said Justice of the Peace Jerry Dellana, who is conducting the inquest.

Dellana and other officers have said since the bodies were found that they believed them to be Miss Stark and Miss Rigby. "Since there is no rush for positive identification, we are going about the autopsy in a thorough, methodical way to be sure we miss nothing," Dellana said.

He repeated again there are no outward physical signs of violence such as bullet holes, knife marks or signs of a beating on the decomposed bodies. However, another officer who asked not to be named because the autopsy was still under way said slightly protruding eye balls and tongue indicated to him the young women might have been strangled.

Dr. Earl F. Rose, Dallas County medical examiner, is not expected to complete pathological examination of the bodies including extensive X-rays, until sometime today.

Earlier, Austin police had told guardians of one of the young women, Miss Stark, that they were sure the two bodies were those of the raven-haired beauties who disappeared 12 days ago.

The police identification report came first to Neil Kinard, an uncle and guardian of one of the young women.

Kinard said in Dallas that Austin police told him the bodies "were definitely those of the missing girls."

Austin Police Chief Bob Miles said, "Although we have not positively identified the bodies, we are reasonably certain they are the girls. I believe we have a case not of missing persons but of homicide."

In Burning Sun

The victims lay in burning sun, hidden in waist-tall grass, on a vacant lot near a new housing development.

The discovery climaxed the widest missing person hunt in Texas history.

The decomposed bodies were taken to a crime laboratory for identification.

Missing since Sunday, July 18, were Susan Rigby and Shirley Ann Stark, University of Texas sorority sisters, both 21 and brunettes.

Justice of the Peace Jerry Dellana said, "everything points to these being the missing girls — their size, their shape, everything."

"However, I cannot make a positive identification until we check their fingerprints, their dental work and have an autopsy."

"Personally, I feel these are the girls."

City Cabinet Voice Nearer To Reality

WASHINGTON (AP) — Creation of a Cabinet voice for the nation's cities moved a step nearer reality Friday when the Senate Government Operations Committee approved the plan 9 to 4.

Adcock Favors Tighter State Funds Control

Strengthening the Division of Administration now being considered by Gov. John J. McKeithen's administration was described Friday by Sen. Jamar Adcock as the state's "most pressing present need."

He said that the governor, budget committee and legislators realized the need for a strong staff to give the state a tighter grip on spending. Therefore, the division, headed by Commissioner Mary Evelyn Parker, should be placed in a position to better control the state's spending.

The budget committee went home this week with tentative recommendations for strengthening the division, but will return to the capitol August 23rd to consider changes.

"We hope by then we can present our recommendations to the governor for his approval," Adcock said.

The committee chairman added, "The Legislature appropriated an additional $300,000 to Mrs. Parker's department for a proper staff, and that's what we intend to carry out."

Adcock explained that in his opinion the division didn't have the man-power now to tackle the billion-dollar operation of the state government.

"We've got to realize that we have a growing state and a growing government and that every dollar has to count," he said. "It's important that we have the right people in the right spot to do the job. It's like running a business."

Adcock pointed out that Mrs. Parker, Civil Service Director W. W. McDougall, the Public Affairs Research Council and the Council For A Better Louisiana were working on proposals to strengthen the division. "I think everyone will cooperate," he said.

Forsythe Street Work Continues

Work is continuing on Forsythe Avenue Extension in preparation for a street improvement project, according to French L. Smith, manager of the Utilities Commission.

He said that crews recently installed a 12-inch water line and are now leveling off dirt piled on top of the pipe.

Contractor L. D. Ritter, Inc. has already begun work on the improvement project which will be financed by property owners.

Forsythe Extension is heavily laden with traffic from U.S. 165 into Monroe.

The measure, similar to one passed by the House in June, would convert the Housing and Home Finance Agency and its satellites into a Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The senators adopted several amendments to the bill designed to protect the present status of the Federal Housing Administration, and to point the way toward a strengthened role in urban affairs for the new department in the future.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the committee, voted against the bill and said he would designate Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., its chief sponsor, to handle the measure on the Senate floor.

Ribicoff said he is confident the Senate will approve the measure, which is a pet proposal of President Johnson.

"It will make a great contribution toward solving the serious problems that now face American cities," Ribicoff said.

The proposal for an 11th Cabinet post was originally advanced by the late President John F. Kennedy as a reorganization plan, but the House twice killed it in 1962. The Senate has never voted on it.

The housing agency which would form the nucleus for the new department is headed by Robert C. Weaver, a New York Negro. There has been speculation that Johnson would nominate him to continue as head if the conversion is approved, thus making Weaver the first Negro to serve in a presidential Cabinet.

Kennedy had announced he would nominate Weaver when he put forth the plan in 1961.

The Senate committee had held up action on the proposal to let the House act first, in view of the two previous rejections.

In addition to the FHA, agencies which would become part of the new department include the Urban Renewal Administration, the Public Housing Administration, the Community Facilities Administration and the Federal National Mortgage Association.

McClellan was joined in voting against the bill by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.; Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb.; and Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo.

It was backed by Ribicoff; Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.; Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska; Admunt S. Muskie, D-Maine; Fred H. Harris, D-Okla.; Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.; Lee Metcalf, D-Mont.; Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M.; and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., was absent.

One Ribicoff amendment adopted would assure that one of the assistant secretaries in the new department would be designated to administer programs now handled by FHA which deal with the private mortgage market.

An amendment by Javits would create an office of urban program coordination. It would provide machinery to coordinate housing and community programs, about 60 of them, not directly under the jurisdiction of the new department.

Two amendments by Kennedy which were accepted would:

— Require a study by the President of urban programs in existing departments which might be transferred to the new department.

— Include transportation as one of the problems of urban development.

New Gemini Landing Tested Successfully

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — A new landing system for U.S. spacecrafts was tested successfully Friday with the unmanned Gemini capsule being guided by radio signals to within 40 feet of its target.

Manned Spacecraft Center engineer Lee Norman said the 4,000-pound spacecraft landed upright on its tripod landing gear exactly as planned.

Norman said the two rockets, which fire when the spacecraft is about 12 feet above the ground, slowed the falling capsule from 27 feet per second to a "pillow soft" landing of about seven feet per second.

It was the first fully successful test of the device in three tries over this central Texas Army post. Another test now has been set tentatively for early next month.

Further tests could be scheduled to give the system a "man rating" which means safe for manned flight, after the September trial, Norman said.

The spacecraft was dropped from an Air Force cargo plane at 12,000 feet altitude. Norman controlled the descent of the capsule from the ground with electronic signals from a console to small motors that roll in shroud lines from the parachute.

During the drop, Norman said he completed several complicated maneuvers, guiding the spacecraft over the sky, and finally drove into the wind for a "perfect" three-point landing.

The closest Norman had been able to come to the target before was 40 yards and that was in Galveston Bay.

A huge "X" is painted on the ground here. Norman stands on a small hill overlooking the target. He only has his eyes to help him bring the spacecraft to its target. There are no radar computers or telescopes.

The motors wind up the shroud lines, causing air to spill from the vented parachute. It works on the same principle as a sky diver's parachute. The red-and-white chute used in Friday's test was 80 feet in diameter.

Area Man Jailed After Brother Dies In Fracas

TALLULAH (Special) — A 58-year-old man is being held in the Madison Parish jail on a murder count after being involved in a fracas which, according to authorities, claimed the life of his brother.

Dead is LeRoy (Moon) Nichols, 60, brother of Guy A. Nichols who will go before the parish grand jury to face the murder charge.

Both lived in a home located in the Bayou Macon area of the parish.

According to a spokesman for the Madison Parish Sheriff's Department, which investigated the incident, the two brothers were arguing in the kitchen of their home over a pair of trousers. During the fight, Guy Nichols struck his brother on the head with a .22-caliber rifle, officers said.

The elder Nichols fell to the floor.

Dr. George M. Webb, Madison parish coroner, was called to the scene and said the man died of a blow to the head.

Funeral for Mr. Nichols will be held at 3 p.m. today at Gay's Funeral Home, Delhi, with the Revs. Lee Smith and Hope Dupree officiating.

Burial will be at Crowville Masonic Cemetery.

Survivors include two other brothers, D. A. Nichols of Shreveport and Loyce Nichols of Winnboro; and four sisters, Mrs. Bill Williams of Lubbock, Tex., Mrs. L. L. Perot of Shreveport, Mrs. Loyce Parker of Delhi and Mrs. G. H. Armstrong of Winnboro.

Pallbearers will be Perry Davis, Sim Harris, Oran Lewis, Jim Clark, Dobie Sutton and Grady Kelly.

New Efficiency Plan Is Slated By Post Offices

Postmasters Woodrow W. Hathorn of Monroe and Homer B. Roark of West Monroe Friday announced that all Twin Cities postal employees will be asked to participate in the new Postal Efficiency Plan announced Wednesday, July 21, by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski.

"The Postal Efficiency Plan includes comprehensive programs for improving postal service and reducing costs," Hathorn said. "It is our way of helping President Johnson fulfill his pledge to provide more effective and economical government services."

In Washington, Postmaster General John A. Gronouski termed the plan's twin objectives of economy and services betterment "a matter of highest priority" and called for total involvement of all employees through the Post Office suggestion program.

Semi-annual reports will be made to the President, Gronouski said, and savings will be reverted to the treasury or applied to improving postal service.

A local committee will be organized to fulfill the twofold purpose of the plan, reducing costs and improving services.

The two local postmasters will be chairmen of the local committees.

Jes Ramblin' Future Officer

A future Naval officer, Drury H. Bynum Jr., son of Mrs. Mignon C. Bynum of 704 Rochelle, Monroe, was administered the Oath of Allegiance at New Orleans Naval Air Station recently and will train for 18 months at Pensacola, Fla., after which he will receive officer's stripes. Bynum graduated from Northeast Louisiana State College here.

Naval Award

The local Navy Recruiting office is soon to be awarded a plaque and certificate for being the number two recruiting station in the Arkansas and Northeast Louisiana area for the recently-ended fiscal year.

The local office has exceeded its yearly quota of enlistees by a good percentage, Chief Hillard Meek, recruiter, said. The local station won out over 17 others.

Dr. Truax Joins Northeast State College Faculty

Dr. Robert L. Truax, former member of the mathematics faculty at Southern State College, Magnolia, Ark., has joined the Northeast Louisiana State College faculty as associate professor of mathematics, announced Dr. Dale Bedgood, department chairman.

Dr. Truax received his bachelor's degree from Arkansas State Teachers College, master's degree from the University of Mississippi, and the Ed. D. degree from Oklahoma State University.

He served for 12 years as mathematics coordinator for Crossett, Ark., public schools before leaving to devote full-time to doctoral studies. He has been on the Southern State faculty for the past two years.

Dr. Truax wrote his doctoral dissertation on "A Study of Factors Which Influence Curriculum Change in Secondary School Mathematics."

He is a member of state and national education associations and councils of teachers of mathematics.

A native of Gillett, Ark., he is married and the father of two children. He is a Methodist.

The Truax family is residing in Monroe at 912 Eason Pl.

Fliers Identified From WWII Crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — A widow, parents and children of 10 fliers missing since World War II have been notified that remains of the men have been discovered — more than 20 years after they died in a wild New Guinea region.

The Army traced down the survivors of the 10 after painstaking examination of dental and medical records to establish the identification of the bodies. The plane, a four-engine photo-charting craft, vanished March 23, 1945 on a flight from Hollandia to "Shangri-la Valley" in what was then Dutch New Guinea.

Letters from the Army to the survivors of the 10 crewmen tell the story.

The plane, part of the 311th Photo Wing, was not seen nor was there radio contact with it after its takeoff.

Search parties went out the day after the craft disappeared and looked for several days, but no trace of the plane or its occupants was found.

Then, in late 1963 a missionary contacted the U.S. air attaché at Djakarta, Indonesia, reporting the discovery of wreckage 9,000 feet up in the central highlands of what is now known as West Irian.

The letter said that human remains, personal effects and military equipment had been discovered.

Later, the air attaché forwarded word that an identification card issued to a Flight Officer William Cook was among the items removed from the wreckage.

It wasn't until June 26, 1964, that the Indonesian government granted permission for a U.S. recovery team to enter West Irian. After further delays, the team trekked into the highlands and found what was left of the plane and its crew.

The remains of the 10 fliers were sent to a U.S. mortuary in Japan for examination.

This resulted in confirmation of the identities of the men, the Army said.

The survivors have been notified that the remains are being held overseas until instructions are received as to whether they should be buried in the National Memorial Cemetery in Hawaii or brought back to the United States.

The 10 men and their survivors notified by the Army:

T. Sgt. Robert F. Bennett, father of Robert Butler, Seville, Ga.; Lt. William A. Cook, son of Lelia F. Cook, 1310 Summerland Ave. Winter Park, Fla.; S. Sgt. Stephen Franks, father of Miss Crystal S. Franks, 1702 Westchester Drive, Silver Spring, Md.

Sgt. Richard M. Henning, son of Mattie Henning, 2940 S. Herman St., Milwaukee, Wis.; S. Sgt. Joseph S. Kassab, 920 S. Solandra Drive, Orlando, Fla.; whose widow is now married to his brother, Edward; Pfc. Rodney J. LaVaque, son of Mrs. Theresa LaVaque, 1207 Colonial Ave., Green Bay, Wis.

Lt. James G. McLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. McLean, Turin Road, Rome, N.Y.; Lt. Frank J. Rubertucci, son of Antonietta Rubertucci, 358 Springfield Road, Upper Darby, Pa.; Sgt. William G. Shaffer, son of Ida E. Paul, 632 E. Bean St., Washington, Pa.; and Lt. Charles Vestal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Vestal, 1604 N. Harrison, Little Rock, Ark.

Guard, Reserve Units Will Have More Training

WASHINGTON (AP) — Intensified training is ahead for some priority units of the National Guard and Reserves to sharpen their readiness for active duty.

Officials let this be known Friday as a precautionary move against the continuing possibility for a selected callup of Reserves to back up regular forces already deployed or earmarked for dispatch to Viet Nam.

These sources noted that although President Johnson has decided against mobilizing Reserves at this time, he did not rule out the possibility of drawing on them in the months ahead.

Reserve units tapped for stepped-up readiness training will probably be drawn from the eight divisions and eight brigades already in the top priority category.

Elements of the Air National Guard and Air Reserves may also be given additional attention. The National Guard Bureau is known to believe that Air National Guard squadrons should be held out of federal service until the final hours because they are already in shape to go on full duty within 30 days.

Certain small Reserve units, and some individual specialists may also be selected for the stepped-up training.

For priority units that are already undergoing weekend drills rather than one-night sessions at armories, the intensified training will mean double or triple the number of weekend sessions.

Selected units will get new clothing supplies, new spare parts for equipment and possibly additional field gear.

For some time, members of priority Reserve and National Guard units have been expected to meet regular Army standards for qualification in their military specialty.

A current check showed that about 85 per cent of these men are so qualified. Some units are nearly up to the regular Army standard of 95 per cent qualification.

Priority units are: 157th of Pennsylvania, 187th of Massachusetts, 191st of Montana and 205th of Minnesota, all in the Reserves; 29th of Hawaii, 69th of Kansas, 92nd of Puerto Rico and 258th of Arizona, Virginia and Missouri, all in the National Guard.

They were: Barbara Rea, Monroe; Linda Norman, Rayville; Susan Tisdale, Monroe; Cheryl Ladart, Monroe; Emily Causey, Columbia; Dana Cruse, Grayson; David Eubanks, Monroe; Joe Monroe, instructor, of Monroe; Suebelle McKeithen, Grayson; Linda Kaye Tarver, Columbia; Denise Halback, Monroe; and Annette Warner, Columbia.

The piano class was held as part of the annual two-week summer music camp at the college.

330 Attend 'Y' Day Camp Sessions Here

Some 330 boys and girls were enrolled in three day camps sponsored at Forsythe Park by the Twin Cities YMCA and YWCA during the summer, according to officials.

The third and final period of the day camps was climaxed Friday afternoon with a special Parents Day Program, with more than 200 parents, campers and friends attending.

Awards were presented the best campers in riflery and archery, diving, swimming, most outstanding campers, most improved campers and best all-around campers in groups.

Named best boy camper was Walter Johnson while Leslie Worthen was selected best camper in the girls camp. Counselor Billy Keith's group was named best boys camping group and Toni Albright's group was chosen best girls camping group.

Those in the winning boys group were Dan Dunn, Paul Havar, Isaac Luffey, Nicky Angelini, Ronald Mullican, John Jones, Glen Roscoe, John Tynes, Robert Walters, Rocky Batley and Mike Pepper.

Members of the winning girls group were Shirley Odom, a counselor's aid, and campers Stacy Anderson, Kay Godfrey, Anne King, Christian Kirkpatrick, Polly Passman, Cathie Primos, Shelia Pugh, Cathy Tittsworth and Leslie Worthen.

Glen Roscoe was given a trophy for being named most improved boy camper and Emilie Roper was named most improved girl camper.

Boys riflery awards were given Stan Passman, Eugene Montgomery, Steve Silmon, Michael Lemoine, Isaac Luffey and Cecil Long. Girls riflery awards were given Jenny Shelton, Christian Kirkpatrick, Sharen Van Buren, Ashley Easterling and Janet Odom.

Boys archery awards were presented to Glenn Kennedy, Robert Foulds, Keith Huey, Ronald Mullican and Scotty Brinson while girls getting the same award were Pam Henry, Polly Passman, Jenny Willey, Debbie Lawler and Rhelda Scharf.

Swimming and diving awards were earned by Rhelda Scharf, diving; Maurice Hawley, Stan Passman, Bert Durrett, Robert Foulds, Taylor Brown, Robbie Curry and Lonnie Heuer, boys minnow; Betsy Kimble, Lynda Allen, Lisa Ann Angelini, Vicki Stuart, Debbie Lawler and Jan Odom, girls minnow.

Robert Foulds, boys fish; Sharen Van Buren, Betsy Kimball, Debbie Angelini, Linda Allen, Lisa Angelini and Benay Baker, girls fish; Paul Havar, boys flying fish; Debbie Primos, girls flying fish; Paul Havar and Nicky Angelini, boys shark; and Ashley Easterling and Leslie Worthen, girls shark.

Lincoln, Neb. (UPI) — Duane Earl Pope, college football hero accused of the wanton slaying of three persons in a bank holdup, was pictured by his court-appointed attorney Friday as a man "blameless for his acts because of his mental condition."

Former Nebraska Gov. Robert B. Crosby gave that description of the 22-year-old Roxbury, Kan., farm youth and college graduate as he asked and received permission to subpoena two psychiatrists and a psychologist to examine Pope.

Crosby said the testimony of mental specialists would be "the very core of the defense" of Pope, who has pleaded innocent to federal murder - bank robbery charges.

Pope, a May graduate of McPherson (Kan.) College, is accused of killing three bank employees and shooting a fourth in a $1,500 robbery of the Farmers State Bank at Big Springs, Neb., on June 4.

The killer forced the bank president, his nephew and two other employees to lie face down on the bank floor. Then he shot each person twice with a silencer - equipped gun and walked out with the loot.

Pope's trial was expected to be held in federal district court here sometime this fall.

Four Are Fined On Theft Counts In Monroe Court

Four persons were fined for theft Friday in a light session of Monroe City Court, presided over by Judge W. M. Harper.

Fined $500 and costs on the charge was Wiley C. Thompson, no address listed. Sherman O. Welch of 66A Marble Dr., Monroe, was fined $300 and costs for theft by check. Fined $100 and costs each in separate theft cases were Charlie Brown of 607 Stone Ave., Monroe, and J. E. Carroll, no address listed. The same charge against J. C. Knight of 313 Curve Dr., Monroe, was discharged.

Fined $425 and costs for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages was E. R. Evans of Bastrop.

Johnny Jackson of 1601 Wood St., Monroe, was fined $350 and costs for aggravated battery. Like counts against Milton Johnson of 1020 Broad St., Monroe, and Samuel D. Edwards of 902 Rogers St., Monroe, were nolle prossed.

Simple battery charges against J. L. Richard of 3802 White St., Monroe, and Roy Jones, Francis Hotel, Monroe, were nolle prossed.

Otis D. Washington of 604 N. 4th St., Monroe, was fined $350 and costs for carrying a concealed weapon.

Claude Charrier of 204 S. 1st St., Monroe, and Clarence W. Alford of 504 Morrison St., Monroe, were both fined $10 and costs for unauthorized use of a moveable.

J. W. Parrott of 101 Long St., Monroe, was fined $10 and costs for negligent driving.

Penalties paid to the traffic violations bureau for negligent driving were Thomas D. Parker Jr. of Start, M. A. Van Vechoven of 2785 Point Dr., Monroe, Joe Ann Smith of 104 McCoy St., Monroe, and Jimmy Myles Jr. of 2203 Short Washington St., Monroe, all $30 and costs.

Penalties paid for speeding were T. A. Platt of 221 Horne St., Monroe, $22 and costs; Paul Ransom of Rt. 4, Monroe, $17 and costs; J. W. Clarkson of Kingston Apartments, Monroe, J. R. Guin of 311 Otis St., West Monroe, and M. W. Savage of 1715 Philhail St., Monroe, all $15 and costs; K. R. Osborn of Delhi, D. R. White of 218 Rutledge St., Monroe, and Mary Ellis of 1801 Flynn St., Monroe, all $10 and costs; and Paul St. Clair of 1515 Trenton St., West Monroe, and J. W. Nelms of 1506 McGuire St., Monroe, both $5 and costs fines.

Five Employees Get Service Pins

Five employees of Louisiana Power & Light Company in the West Monroe area recently were awarded company service pins.

They are John P. Holtzclaw, mechanic at the Sterlington steam - electric generation station, 20-year pin; Miss Joyce A. Wilson, clerk in northern division engineering, Willie M. Jackson, member of northern construction, and Henry Clark, member of Sterlington steam-electric generating station, all received 15-year pins; and Kenneth T. Rhodes, member of West Monroe district, 5-year pin.

Former Presidents Aid Chamber Study

Fifteen former Monroe Chamber of Commerce presidents are back at work on a self-evaluation project.

George Moses, chairman of the Past President's Council, announced Friday that the group is involved in a project to improve the efficiency, size, program and image of the Chamber. Their guide is a "Check List for Progress Evaluation."

Moses said the council is working from a master list of more than 75 points of inquiry that the past president's organization will evaluate.

Completion of the project is expected within 60 days, Moses said, in preparation for a formal inspection of the local Chamber operations by a special evaluation team from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Joe Marx Sr. is the senior member of the council, having served as Chamber president in 1937.

Other former chiefs, with their date of office, are as follows:

Jack Warren, 1941; Sam Smith, 1945; Tom Scott, 1946; H. M. James, 1947; Dr. J. W. Cummins, 1948; Tom Frazer, 1949; Clifford M. Strauss, 1950; Ivy Jordan, 1951; Lee Vanderpool, 1953; Thomas M. Hayes Jr., 1954; Shelby Cage, 1955; Grayson Guthrie, 1956; Fred Fudickar Jr., 1957; James W. Moore, 1959; W. E. Whetstone, 1960; Garland Shell, 1961; J. H. (Slim) Scogin, 1962; J. C. (Mose) Loftin, 1963; and George Moses, 1964.

The subcommittee members, with the chairmen, listed first are:

Organization structure, Fred Fudickar Jr., Sam Smith and Joe Marx Sr. Officers and directors, Shelby

by Cage, Tom Frazer and Clifford Strauss.

Committees, Lee Vanderpool, Tom Scott and Dr. J. W. Cummins.

Manager and staff, George Moses, Charles Bird and Ben Marshall.

Objectives, W. E. Whetstone, Jack S. Campbell and James A. Noe.

Members, Garland D. Shell, A. Lee Booth and A. J. McBe.

Membership activities, J. H. (Slim) Scogin, John Rudisill and James H. Rivers.

Program of work, James W. Moore, R. D. Farr and Conway Crossland. Projects under this program will be examined by J. C. (Mose) Loftin, French L. Smith and Thad J. Ryan Jr.

Program promotion, Ivy Jorday, George Rorex and Max L. Riley.

Fiscal controls, Thomas M. Hayes Jr., John Collins and Haynes L. Harkey.

Quarters and facilities, Grayson Guthrie, Jack L. Smith and John Birdsong Sr.

Accomplishments, H. M. James, Saul Adler and Owen L. McCleary.

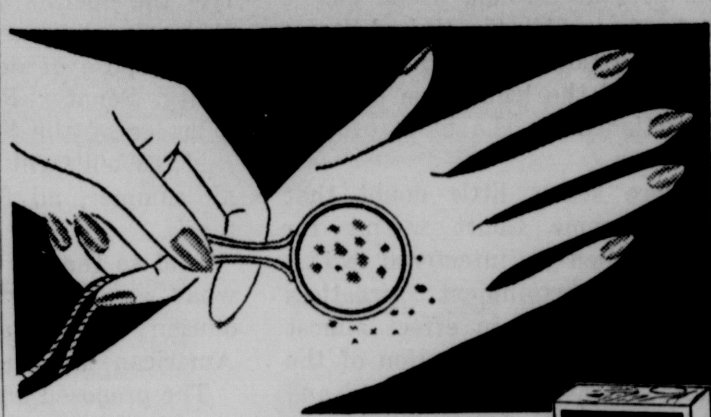

Some of the committee members are present and past officers and directors, but former presidents fill each of the chairmanships.

The 12 groups will hold their first report meeting on Aug. 23.

Long Praises Conferee Action On Amendment

WASHINGTON (Special) — Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) said Friday that he was very pleased that House and Senate conferees saw the wisdom of retaining his amendment to the voting rights bill.

Long said his amendment will allow parishes with more than 50 per cent Negro registration to be exempt from provisions of the bill.

"I never lost confidence," he said, "that the Congress would insure that the registration process of all parishes would not be usurped because there was an indication of discrimination in some parishes."

"My amendment will permit 23 of our parishes to immediately go to court and show that more than 50 per cent of their Negro population is registered to vote, at which time they may be declared exempt from unnecessary interference into voter registration procedure."

"The amendment applies not only to current situations, but has future application as well. In the future, parishes or counties may exempt themselves from provisions of the bill by raising Negro registration to the 50 per cent level."

"It is only fair that these responsible governments be permitted to handle their own affairs."

"I am happy that both houses of the Congress have reaffirmed the merit of my amendment."

Leopard Changes Spots

Sometimes truth is stranger than fiction. Sometimes a very amazing simile that we might conjure up pales into insignificance when compared to an actual happening. It is doubtful if any greater political changing has ever occurred than that effected by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen in his manipulation of Senate Resolution No. 66.

Until last week, S. J. 66 was an obscure Senate resolution that would have asked the President to proclaim the week of August 31 through September 6 as "national American Legion baseball week." It was introduced in March by Senator Karl E. Mundt, R., S. D. There was nothing controversial in it and it was expected it would be passed in due course without a murmur.

After the bill had been approved by the judiciary committee, Senator Dirksen latched onto it. Now the bill is the center of a controversy that threatens to bog the Senate down, perhaps for weeks, in a filibuster.

S. J. 66 underwent a complete metamorphosis. It no longer has anything to do with baseball or the American Legion. Dirksen called up the resolution, then moved to strike its contents and substitute for it the wording of a proposed Constitutional amendment. That amendment, one of the most controversial proposals of the current session, would enable states to nullify the United States Supreme Court's ruling that both houses of the legislature must be apportioned on the basis of population.

There seems little doubt that the Supreme Court went far afield when it interfered with state apportionment practices which had been in effect almost ever since the organization of the United States of America and which generally followed the practice of the federal government in basing the apportionment of one house on population while the other was based on other considerations. In the United States Senate each state is allowed two members.

Dirksen resorted to the unusual tactic to bring his bill before the Senate after it became clear that the normal route, through committee, was closed to him. He tried without success earlier in the week to line up a majority of the Senate judiciary committee in favor of approving the measure for floor debate. But, with the panel's so-called liberals vigorously opposed to the bill, the committee was deadlocked.

Dirksen argues that the proposal will return to the voters the right to determine how they will be governed. Under the amendment, states could apportion one house on factors other than population, if the voters approved an alternate plan in a referendum. Both sides concede that the court's one-man, one-vote rule, if carried out, would weaken rural lawmakers in most state legislatures.

A majority for passage in the Senate is claimed by Dirksen forces. President Johnson told Dirksen he would continue to "keep hands off." Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield now counts himself "leaning very strongly" toward the amendment. So do several other non-Southern Democrats who usually side with the so-called liberals.

Always protesting mightily when conservatives use the filibuster to do what the liberals call "thwarting the will of the majority," the liberals now seem willing themselves to use that weapon for the purpose of defeating the majority. Senator Paul H. Douglas, a leader of the liberal opponents, said: "We'll fight it out if it takes all summer, all fall and all winter."

And so the big fight is on over what was formerly a simple resolution to declare a national American Legion baseball week.

The proposed amendment, to become effective, must be passed by a two-thirds vote of both houses and ratified by 38 of the 50 states.

The fate of the former baseball bill has become of great importance and will be watched with extraordinary interest.

Cigarette Bill Signed

Starting January 1, cigarettes will join some medicines in carrying a warning label. President Johnson, described as a non-smoker, has signed a bill requiring every package of cigarettes to be labeled with a health warning.

The legislation stemmed from a report of the United States surgeon general two years ago linking cigarette smoking to some forms of cancer and other serious ailments.

The label will read: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers, in announcing the signing, said:

"The bill does make a real contribution to the effort to bring to the attention of smokers and potential smokers the scientific and medical data indicating health hazards involved in smoking."

Farm Bureau Protests

Orville Freeman, secretary of agriculture, apparently is up to his old tactics again — using political pressure to obtain passage of an agriculture bill the farmers don't want.

Once, in a national referendum, Freeman was soundly defeated on a wheat quota proposal, although he had threatened that if farmers did not support his measure farm price supports would be cut off. Fortunately Freeman did not have the "say-so" on that and Congress, as usual, enacted a farm bill.

Now the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation is strongly protesting what it calls the improper use of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Louisiana by the Secretary of Agriculture to promote what it calls "the worst cotton bill in history."

James Graunard of St. James Parish, president of the Farm Bureau, said the state and parish A.S.C.S. offices and committees were being forced by Washington into a position of distributing information on pending legislation which is overwhelmingly opposed by the great majority of Louisiana's cotton farmers. Graunard said the information improperly distributed by the A.S.C.S. not only is misleading as to the true cotton situation but as to the position of the Farm Bureau and other organizations on the farm bill.

Political use of the A.S.C.S. is completely out of place.

Good Service Pay Hike Seen

McNamara Is Overriden In Boost

IT MAY BE THAT the Senate, where committee hearings are now underway, will be somewhat less generous than was the House of Representatives which voted a 10.7 per cent average pay raise to the 2,733,000 military personnel on full time active duty.

However, the House sentiment was so overwhelming for the increase that it seems that in the end the pay increase will average not less than 7 per cent, possibly 8 per cent. The House vote represented a victory in that body for Representative L. Mendel Rivers, Democrat of South Carolina, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, over Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The total cost of the House bill would be around $1,000,000,000 per year, or double that recommended by Secretary McNamara. The House bill was, as Chairman Rivers told his colleagues "conceived and developed in its entirety by the Committee on Armed Services."

THERE IS NO doubt the House Committee worked hard on that bill. It established some recent Congressional records for early daily starts on its hearings. In January it started meeting at 10 o'clock in the morning, in February it moved the hours up to 9, in March to 8 o'clock, in April and May to 7:30 and toward the end its hearings were opening at 7 o'clock in the morning.

One of the big problems of the various military services is retention of its personnel. Representative F. Edward Hebert, Democrat, Louisiana, high ranking member of the Armed Services Committee, told the House that the Committee bill would be more effective for retention than the Pentagon proposals.

There are some interesting figures on retention.

In 1962, the re-enlistment rates for first term and career enlisted personnel in the entire Department of Defense were 57.3 per cent. In 1963, they declined to 53.1 per cent. In 1964, they declined to 50 per cent. In the first six months of 1965, they declined further to 48.2 per cent.

THERE ARE FIGURES showing that the Government spends $3,500,000,000 per year in costs of procuring and retraining replacements for those who drop out of the military services.

There were also figures showing that slightly over 789,000 enlisted men have had less than 2 years service.

Convincing figures also have been presented that many service families in the low enlisted ranks live close to poverty. Many take moonlighting (extra) jobs to make ends meet.

In the Air Force alone, it was brought out in House debate, of the total of 884,000 on active duty, some 153,730 moonlight and more would do so if they could find the jobs. Many of the wives also work to supplement the family income.

In order to get the minimum $1.25 per hour pay of civilian life, the typical serviceman must be at least a corporal or a third class petty officer. Some claims made in debate were that enrollees in the Job Corps are as well provided for as military recruits. The Pentagon denied this. But there is not much difference in the pay, even according to Pentagon figures. They showed a total annual income for the military enlistee of $1,875.40 and a total annual income for the Job Corps enrollee of $1,871.78 — a difference of $3.62.

OF THE COST of the House bill over the Pentagon proposals approximately 88 per cent of the $455,000,000 is found in the enlisted grade structure.

"The GI of today," said Representative Thomas G. Abernathy, Democrat, Mississippi, "has to be smarter and quicker than those who have gone before him. He requires a technical skill and an ability to learn a technical skill that many of his predecessors never dreamed of."

There is no doubt that a vast amount of money is contained in the military pay raise bill as it passed the House. But there was argument that it would be a bargain because it would retain many highly skilled men who would otherwise leave the service to support their families.

Between 60 and 70 per cent of all skilled enlisted men leave at the end of their first four-year term. Their training costs reach staggering figures. Just two of many: It takes $23,000 to train an electronic specialist and $49,000 to train a ballistic missile launching expert.

Fulbright Rates Individual Low

SENATOR WILLIAM Fulbright, in trying to make the point that private individuals, and agencies, sometimes get in the way of "official" foreign policy, has classified the Young Americans for Freedom as an "extremist political organization." It is of course useful in the polemics to pronounce the other side as "extremist," and anyone who has closely studied the career of Mr. Fulbright is aware that he is regularly given to abusive language to describe people and positions with which he disagrees.

The Senator's most recent complaint concerns the cancellation by the Firestone Tire Co. of the deal with Roumania to build there a synthetic rubber plant worth about $40 million. The Young Americans for Freedom acted on the assumption that surely if it is laudable to human beings merely because they are Negro, it is laudable to picket commerce with a government that declines to let human beings out of jail and torture chambers merely because they believe in freedom. Anyway, the pressure of Y.A.F. combined with opportunistic pressures by Firestone's competitor, the Goodyear Company, caused Firestone last spring to back out of the deal; and Roumania and Fulbright are furious.

MR. FULBRIGHT'S larger point — that individual agencies shouldn't get in the way of American foreign policy — is not uninteresting, although it trends surely to reflect the latently totalitarian instincts of those who denounce in such immoderate language others who disagree with him. Until the day comes when the government of the United States owns all the corporations in America, it is the corporations' business, not the government's, whether to trade with any other nation in the world. True, as a matter of national policy the government may clap an embargo: that is an exercise of a negative power relating to the national security. But to do the opposite, to require a corporation to trade with a foreign power, whether that power is friendly or unfriendly, is outside the sovereign authority of free governments. The government may deny an export license to anyone who desires to ship a cyclotron to Cuba. But the government may not require a corporation to ship a single stick of chewing gum to Cuba against its will.

The Young Americans for Freedom was organized in 1960 as more or less the conservative counterpart to the Students for Democratic Action. The group has been governed by a succession of young men and women who have steadfastly eschewed extremism and extremists of any sort. Their publication, The New Guard — "something called The New Guard," was how Senator Fulbright described the journal that attacked the impending deal with Roumania — is carefully edited and highly responsible, and publishes the work of many students and scholars from around the country. Dozens upon dozens of Congressmen and Senators and professors are associated with its advisory board. All in all, about as "extremist" an organization as the Chamber of Commerce. Partisan yes, extremist no.

IT IS A CONTINUING source of exasperation to some of our Florentine internationalists that there should continue to reside deep in the American conscience a sense of the moral unfitness of normal commercial and even diplomatic exchanges with governments which flout the elementary laws of civilization, and on top of that, seek to turn every exchange with the West into a means by which to increase their relative power over us, advancing, hopefully, on the day when they will, in the delicate phrase of Khrushchev, "bury us."

For Mr. Fulbright these are sentiments to be mocked. Good-year, he wrote, anticipating Firestone's difficulties, "suddenly got religion and grandly refused to traffic with the Red heathen." I do not know, not being Goodyear's confessor, just how suddenly it got religion. But is the term "Red heathen" only suitable for use by the college of the Ozarks? Mr. Fulbright's derisory dismissal of such impulses goes over very well with the long-hairs who sit around the fellows' suites in our posher universities, wondering which of the two hegemonies, the Russian's or our own, is the less unbearable. But it doesn't go over very well, thank God (to use a phrase Mr. Fulbright would probably also deride as Ozarkian), in most other parts of the United States.

SYLVIA PORTER

Filth Pictured By Peace Corps

"LONG HOURS, hard work, low pay . . .

"Dirt and rats, crowded rooms . . . headaches, frustration."

"$50 a month."

These are a few of the come-ons now being blared across the nation on hundreds of thousands of posters in colleges, churches, post offices. Accompanying illustrations show an assortment of garbage cans, city back alleys, sagging rural porches.

This is the call for Volunteers in Service to America — the "domestic Peace Corps" — to which 21,000 of us have responded just in VISTA's first six months. A new breed of volunteers, in fact, is emerging — from every age group, background, political stripe and tax bracket — to tackle some of the hardest, dirtiest, most thankless jobs there are.

FOR EXAMPLE, a wealthy middle-aged friend has just volunteered to spend the next two years in the Peace Corps; she is one of more than 150,000 applicants for this grueling overseas duty just in the program's brief four-year history.

Another friend who has a full-time job has enrolled in her local "Project Head Start" to help disadvantaged slum children; she is one of 600,000 such volunteers who will devote much or most of this summer to this work, 100,000 of them full-time.

Still another young doctor friend is temporarily shelving his practice to join hundreds of others working full-time without pay in "Head Start" this summer.

Across the U. S. an astounding number of lawyers, bankers, teachers, businessmen, nurses, college and high school students, disc jockeys, artists, are now giving time and talent to such chores as counseling high school dropouts, advising the poor on legal problems, administering eyesight tests, teaching clay modeling, recruiting teenagers for a wide range of anti-poverty, anti-dropout programs. Many are taking leaves from jobs paying in the five figures.

LURING THE NEW volunteer is a perceptible — even though gradual — lowering of the traditional bars between professionals and non-professionals and a rising status of volunteer work. A serious and chronic shortage of professionals in virtually all fields has led to a nationwide search for substitutes for the professional — or, in bureaucratic terms, for "sub-professionals."

In the past the general patronizing attitude toward the volunteer had confined the woman volunteer particularly to charity balls and fashion shows. But as anti-poverty war chief Sargent Shriver puts it, "We can no longer afford a professional guild approach to service. We can no longer treat the volunteer as a second class citizen." As Mrs. Katherine Mills, national chairman of volunteers for the American National Red Cross, adds, "There are too many real needs to relegate interested and able persons to 'busy work'."

The economic implications of the emergence of the new volunteer are vast.

FOR THE VOLUNTEER, even an unpaid job means vital training and experience toward a future career, especially in the fields of health, education, sociology, psychology.

For the nation, the new volunteer means the development of a new economic resource. No feasible amount of federal funds or total of government paid workers could begin to meet the enormous needs volunteers are now tackling. The extra hands, extra hours and extra efforts will create extra output — with an incalculable payoff to come in reduction of welfare and unemployment rolls, in the development of a labor force sufficiently educated and skilled to fill today's jobs, in the building of the economies of now underdeveloped nations.

The production of the unpaid volunteer isn't "counted" in America's gross national product. But it always has run into billions of dollars a year — and now, as volunteer work achieves new status, it'll run into tens of billions a year.

Docket Is Heavy At West Monroe Court Session

Judge John McCormick Friday presided over a heavy docket in West Monroe City Court. J. B. Holmes of 1206 Georgia St., Monroe, and Evans Hammett of Dotson, were each fined $400 and costs for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, and $50 and cost for reckless driving.

Fined $300 and costs for DWI plus a total of $175 and costs for aggravated and simple battery was A. L. Garner of 203 Dixie St., Monroe.

Fined $300 and costs for DWI plus $25 and costs for reckless driving were Claude Winstead of Hwy. 15, Monroe, Luther Jones of Farmerville, and William Crabtree of Shreveport. V. E. Mauldin of 108 Avant Rd., West Monroe, was fined $300 and costs for DWI.

Alice Nelson of 511 N. 4th St., West Monroe, was fined $100 and costs for drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon.

R. J. Butler of 2001 Cypress St., West Monroe, was fined a total of $300 and costs on two counts of theft.

Reckless driving cases and dispositions were Loftin Griffin of Portland, Ore., J. L. Frantom of 119 Lisa Lane, West Monroe, and Press Hawsford of 1014 N. 7th St., West Monroe, all $25 and costs; Nolie Narmon of 719 Berg Jones Lane, Monroe, and Lawrence Franks of Calhoun, both $20 and costs; Charles DeCalle of 1713 Cole St., Monroe, $10 and costs; Danny Moore of 306 Roselawn, Monroe, $15 and costs; and Herbert Collier of 1903 Sherwood Dr., West Monroe, not guilty.

Speeding cases and dispositions were George Harrell of 403 N. 4th St., West Monroe, $40 and costs; Dennis Hubbard of 508 Wheelers St., West Monroe, $20 and costs; William Downing of Rt. 1, Box 308 1/2, Monroe, and R. R. Little of 210 Balboa Dr., Monroe, both $15 and costs; Max Grubbs of 116 Linder St., West Monroe, and J. L. Bishop of Rt. 3, Box 380, Monroe, both $10 and costs; and Jerry Joiner of 318 Circle Dr., Monroe, charge withdrawn.

In an additional case, Earl Hubanks of 613 N. 6th St., West Monroe, was found not guilty of aggravated battery.

Anti-Jew Actions Blamed On Son Of Nazi Criminal

BAMBERG, Germany (UPI) — Police Friday blamed the city's recent outbreak of anti-semitic acts on the son of a Nazi war criminal.

They arrested Reinhard Woltzik, 20, after finding in his room paint, brushes and other material used in smearing Nazi swastikas and such slogans as "Death to Jews" on the local synagogue and Jewish tombstones.

Woltzik, whose father died a year ago after his release from a Polish prison after serving a war crimes sentence, has denied the accusations, police said. The local prosecutor said the young dental technician is being held in jail and undergoing questioning to see if others took part in the smearings.

Police said they do not definitely know if Woltzik committed the acts out of revenge for his father, who was a member of the Nazi SS elite stormtroopers.

They described the youth as "lone wolf" type with neither male nor female friends. Police said Woltzik was fired from his job as a technician two weeks ago because of "irregularities" in his training records.

The series of midnight smearings focused world attention on this Baroque tourist center of 72,000 — of whom 15 Jews are the only remainders of a large pre-Nazi Jewish population. Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and other German leaders called the acts a shame on Germany.

Rusk Discounts Spy Perils; Urges Soviet Consular Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk recommended Friday the ratification of a year-old treaty to permit consular exchanges with Soviet Union and discounted the danger of increased Soviet espionage in such a step.

Rusk told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that offices which the United States could open in the Soviet Union if the agreement is approved by the Senate would provide much-needed protection for thousands of U.S. tourists and smooth trade relations between the countries.

The treaty was signed more than a year ago but the administration had not pressed for its ratification until now.

After hearing Rusk, the committee deferred a decision on whether to hear more witnesses.

Under questioning by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, Rusk said "we are satisfied that the convention would not materially affect" the problem of Communist espionage in the United States.

His attention was called to a recent statement by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that Soviet consulates would "make our job more difficult" in the espionage field, the secretary said.

"If those responsible for protecting our secrets are successful, there would be no problem in having a few more people moving freely around the country."

"We try to classify the information at the source rather than close down the country. It's the classic duty of diplomats to report on what they observe," Rusk said.

He described espionage as "a very special problem" and added he was "great confidence in the ability of the FBI to handle it."

Rusk noted that last year about 12,000 tourists visited the Soviet Union, in contrast to 204 tourists who came to this country.

In the past, he noted, arrest of U.S. tourists in the U.S.S.R. has posed a difficult problem and in some instances Americans have disappeared and there has been no word about them for weeks after such arrests.

Under the treaty, Soviet authorities would be required to notify U.S. officials within three days after an arrest and permit a visit to the prisoner within four days.

Consulates would be set up on a city-for-city basis. Rusk did not specify how many consulates might be established under the treaty but mentioned that the United States might want to have one at Leningrad. The Russians are understood to want one in Chicago.

Rusk assured the senators that no consular offices would be established without prior consultation with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Consular offices traditionally are devoted largely to assistance of their nations abroad and to economic matters. They perform no diplomatic duties such as care carried out through embassies.

Even without a formal consular convention, the United States once had a consulate in Vladivostok and the Soviet Union had consulates in New York and San Francisco and a vice consulate in Los Angeles.

All these were closed in 1948 after a Russian woman school teacher jumped from the third floor of the Soviet consulate in New York and the United States accused the Soviet Union of abusing its consular privileges by detaining her.

Political Faction Tells Negro Not To Honor Draft

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party circulated an appeal Friday urging Negro mothers to keep their sons from honoring the draft and for Negroes in the armed services to stage hunger strikes.

The FDP, a civil rights group that led recent racial demonstrations, made the plea in a leaflet distributed in Negro communities throughout the state.

The appeal also appeared in the party's monthly newsletter and copies were placed on a bulletin board in the headquarters building in Jackson.

Charles Horwitz, a spokesman for the Freedom Democrats said "the McComb Freedom Democratic Party initially published the letter and although the executive committee of the FDP hadn't taken any action on it, we decided to reprint it in the official newsletter for distribution across the state."

The Freedom Democrats are challenging the seating of Mississippi's five congressmen on grounds Negroes were not allowed to vote in the elections.

An editor's note in the newsletter said the appeal was authored by Joe Martin of McComb and Clint Hopson, a law student from New Jersey.

"No Mississippi Negroes should be fighting in Viet Nam until all the Negro people are free in Mississippi," the newsletter said.

"Negro boys should not honor the draft here in Mississippi. Mothers should encourage their son not to go."

"We will gain respect and dignity as a race only by forcing the U.S. government and the Mississippi government to come with guns, dogs and trucks to take our sons away to fight and be killed protecting Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Louisiana."

"No one has a right to ask us to risk our lives and kill other colored people in Santo Domingo and Viet Nam, so that the white American can get richer. We will be looked upon as traitors by all the colored people of the world if the Negro people continue to fight and die without a cause."

"And if he says democracy, tell him the truth—we don't know anything about Communism, socialism, and all that, but we do know that Negroes have caught hell right here under this American democracy."

Rowdies Halt Police Effort To Aid Baby

DALLAS (UPI) — Rowdies in a crowd of Negroes watching a fire taunted police and three of them grappled with patrolmen Thursday night when officers tried to clear a path to bring emergency medical aid to a baby brought from the burning building.

The infant, 23-month-old Patrick Chambers, was dead on arrival at a hospital. An autopsy showed death was caused by smoke inhalation.

Even if a resuscitator could have been brought quickly through the crowd, it probably would not have saved him, County Medical Examiner Dr. Carl Rose said.

Three Negroes, including a woman, were arrested by Negro and white policemen.

One of the two men said he was a Black Muslim, according to detectives.

Most of the crowd estimated at 700 was orderly. They started moving back when police tried to open a path so a resuscitator could be brought up for the baby.

The main problem was that the crush of the crowd prevented officials from moving freely and blocked men trying to bring in the emergency equipment.

What police called "punks," started shouting.

A woman said Sgt. J. H. Dahman "touched me."

Two 19-year-old youths jumped Dahman and another officer. Patrolman R. J. Shackelford was struck on the head and fell to his knees.

Dahman's face was clawed and his uniform torn by the cursing woman.

Shouts of "Kill them, kill them," could be heard in the crowd.

Police said later about 50 to 60 "young toughs" were acting up, though apparently none struck officers.

Patrolmen Dahman and Shackelford were scratched and bruised and their uniforms were torn.

While the police scuffled, seven carloads of reinforcements arrived to help keep order.

Firemen formed a ring around the body of the infant and gave artificial respiration.

Four other children in the Chambers family were rescued from the fire that caused $3,000 damage.

The children's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Chambers Jr., were not home when the fire broke out, firemen said.

Many Use Pills

LONDON (AP) — A medical researcher said today more than five million British women now use oral contraceptive pills. Dr. G. I. M. Sawyer, an obstetrical consultant at University Cottage Hospital, told a seminar of newspaperwomen no harmful side effects have yet been detected.

If you have a question you want answered, write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me, Please" at the Morning World or News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you in this column.

Someone's - face - is - red - department:

In last week's column, we answered the question of whether leavers eat fish with a "yes" after checking with a local zoo official. He reported back after the answer appeared Saturday morning, saying that he had been thinking about mink and otter, who do eat fish, when he answered the question.

The beaver, he said, is a vegetarian and eats water hyacinths and almost any green plants growing on the water.

What is a whit, as in the expression, "it doesn't matter a whit"?

This word dates back to old England and is now termed as archaic or literary by the Oxford Universal Dictionary.

Punk and Wagnell's New Standard Dictionary defines a whit as the smallest part; a speck; generally used with a negative, as "it does not displease me a whit."

Are there any teenage nurses' aides (Candystrippers) in the Monroe hospitals? If so, how could I become one?

Two different groups of teenage girls, both wearing striped uniforms, serve in hospitals in the Twin Cities.

The Candystrippers, sponsored by the St. Francis Hospital Auxiliary and the Ouachita Parish Medical Association auxiliary and sanctioned by the American Hospital Association, is one of these groups. These girls wear red and white striped uniforms.

The other organization is the Red Cross Hospital Aides, who are sponsored by the American Red Cross and wear blue and white striped uniforms.

In order to join the St. Francis group, a girl must be 15 years old or have finished her freshman year in high school. She must also take an orientation program offered by the Auxiliaries. The next program of this type will be conducted in October, and interested girls should contact Mrs. James W. Geisler or Miss Jackie Voorhees.

The Red Cross will hold their six-hour training course during the fall. Girls must be 15, must complete this course and must have a medical slip from their doctor or the health unit. If interested, contact the local Red Cross office.

What is the address of the Beatles?

You can write to the Beatles at this address: First Floor, Service House, 13 Monmouth St., London, W. C. 2, England.

Why are communists referred to as "reds"?

Red is the traditional revolutionary color. Those who formulated the Russian revolution, which was to bring communism to the fore, were known as Red Russians because of their revolutionary nature. Opposing them was another faction, the White Russians.

The term "red" was then perpetuated in the flag of the USSR, as the hammer and sickle rests on a solid red background.

What is a residential designer and what type of training do they have, and what type and size buildings may they design in the City of Monroe?

Residential designers, according to residential designer Philip Duncan, are persons who specialize in home designing, and whose aim is the improvement of home design. Qualifications are established by the state organization, the Louisiana Residential Designers Society, and while college training is not required at this time, the trend is in that direction. The society is a chartered organization, one of the functions of which is to administer examinations to candidates for certification. Residential designers may design any project with a construction cost of up to $40,000 including commercial work, though the bulk of activities is in home design. There is no minimum project size, and the maximum is established by the Legislature. There are seven residential designers presently in the city. John Moore at the Louisville Business Center is president of the local organization and should be contacted for further information. There are local groups in every major Louisiana city.

What is a "Free Will" Baptist? Are they any different from the Southern Baptist?

Free Will Baptist is listed in the World Almanac as a major Baptist Body. Free Baptist is not a part of the Southern Baptist Convention, but a separate organization. The church was organized in 1727 and, according to 1965 statistics, has 171,162 members in 2,030 churches throughout the United States. National headquarters are in Nashville, Tenn.

USS Helena Sank Fighting Japanese; Survivors Gather

EDITOR'S NOTE — Cmdr. Paul O. Anderson was on the USS Helena at Pearl Harbor and on the cruiser throughout her South Pacific World War II campaign until she sank in Kula Gulf July 6, 1943. Anderson tells the Helena's story in this article written as survivors prepared for a reunion in her namesake city.

By PAUL ANDERSON
Managing Editor

Tacoma, Wash., News Tribune

HELENA, Mont. (AP) —

Twenty-two years ago July 6 the USS Helena, named for this Montana city, was sunk in Kula Gulf, middle Solomon Islands, by three torpedoes launched by a Japanese destroyer during a night battle.

The Helena fired with everything she had to the end; four Japanese destroyers were destroyed by her guns even as the deadly torpedoes homed on her vulnerable hull.

Survivors of that last battle — nearly 1,000 were saved — will meet in Helena today, Sunday and Monday through arrangements by Ray L. Clabaugh of Bucyrus, Ohio.

During her battle life of one year the USS Helena sank three cruisers, three destroyers and one submarine; assisted other ships in sinking three destroyers and one submarine; knocked down 13 to 15 planes; fought three night battles, four air attacks and was in five shore bombardments.

Her fighting life began at Pearl Harbor with a torpedo that hit her amidships. Eventually the Helena's damaged hull

Californian Says LBJ Might Meet Hanoi's Leader

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Friday he believed President Johnson might consider meeting with Communist North Viet Nam leader Ho Chi Minh if such a meeting would assure an end to the fighting in South Viet Nam.

Brown made the comment to newsmen on his return from Washington where he and other governors were briefed by President Johnson on Viet Nam. He emphasized the President made no such statement, but this was merely Brown's impression of the President's resolve to end the fighting.

"Should Ho Chi Minh say 'I'd like to settle this thing,' I'm sure the President would go to a neutral spot," Brown said.

The governor said Johnson has a "sincere desire to end hostilities with honor."

"President Johnson wants peace in Viet Nam very much but has no intention under any circumstances whatsoever of being pushed out of there," Brown said.

was repaired at Mare Island, then she sailed west — west to Espirito Santo, Guadalcanal — and Kula Gulf.

She joined the Big E's — Enterprise — task force making weekly milk runs between Espirito Santo and Guadalcanal to supply our Marines.

There was the mid-November convoy trip up Savo Sound — one to remember. The transports unloaded and continued south through Sealark Channel. We reversed course to take care of the enemy coming in with reinforcements. After several hours we saw targets and commenced to track the leading ship.

"Sixteen targets reported in three different groups," Lt. Cmdr. Jack Chew — now an admiral — said. "We'll take the closer group on the port bow."

Suddenly it happened. Like the hellish glare of a prison searchlight, a beam shot out of the night spearing us. Like a thing hypnotized, the Helena steamed along. Down the fighting bridge the gunnery officer waited impatiently for word to fire. The moment was a spain of years when all grew old.

"Commence firing."

With one hoarse roar 19 guns blasted at once and the ship reared like a mustang. When we left the enemy cruiser, it had rolled on its side.

Our guns shifted to two targets on the starboard bow. Firing ceased only when both ships were burning fiercely.

The second Savo battle weakened the enemy, forcing a retreat up the Solomon Islands. Our forces were making constant night bombardments around Kolombangara to prepare for a troop landing.

On the critical night, we passed a landing force and went especially close ashore to do a thorough job. But this night the enemy was on hand.

About 2 a.m. sky control reported targets. In moments we were on them.

"They're heading home," said Lt. Jim Baird. "Wait a minute — the group has split. Four destroyers are making a run on us."

The terrible pounding of the guns began. One destroyer caught fire and stopped. Two others were hit and burned.

"Hey, Jim!" I called. "there's a baby speeding up on the right flank. She's coming in fast." The after battery was on it and firing in a moment. Tracers from the guns looked like water — fire water — from a hose.

Five-inch shells slammed into the destroyer and fires started everywhere. But the enemy had dropped her fish.

With a roar one hit the Helena forward. The bridge rocked back and forth. I was knocked to my knees. We were hit a second time. Then a third torpedo hit and all power went off. Word was given to abandon ship.

There was nothing to do but go over the side into oil-slick water. I took off my shoes and carefully placed them side by side on the deck, as if getting ready to hit the sack. For many others, it was not so simple.

Down on the third deck Dr. Lawrence Bean was knocked unconscious. Water rushing in revived him and he swung hand over hand on an overhead beam to safety.

Father John Wheaton was washed down the lower passageway. Without a word, one man tied a line around his waist, went through the scuttle and led the padre to safety.

Most of the crew were picked up within hours by destroyers. Others made it to enemy-held Vella Lavella Island where friendly natives took them to a secret camp and fed them. During the first days, Lt. Cmdr. Chew, by devious means, contacted Guadalcanal. Rescue plans were made, but secrecy and silence meant the difference between life and death.

The survivors, including some Chinese caught on the island months before, moved to the beach in the afternoon but were not to be picked up until 2 a.m.

As darkness came, the Chinese babies got hungry and cried. Their voices sounded like air raid sirens.

The mothers put the children to their breasts and spoke softly. Soon the jungle was serene.

At midnight natives paddled the channel entrance. At 2 there were no rescue craft in sight. At 3 o'clock they were heard in the darkness. Lt. Cmdr. Boles slipped out of the canoe and stood on the edge of a reef guarding the channel.

"Thanks a million, boys," he whispered to the natives, and waved them away.

As he saw the shadows of the rescue boats he flashed a light. Then he shouted. Finally he was seen and pulled aboard an attack transport. He guided it and another in.

On the beach everyone took off knives, guns, trinkets and gave them to the natives. They shook hands all around and the survivors trooped aboard. Slowly the craft backed off the beach, then headed for the open sea and safety.

And that's what the World War II Helena crew will be shooting the breeze about when they meet in Helena in the next three days.

Work Bogs Down On Birth Control

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

A deadlock has apparently developed in the special commission appointed by Pope Paul VI to review the Roman Catholic position on birth control.

The 60-member commission of theologians, doctors and family-life counselors was created on June 24, 1964. It held its first meeting in Rome last March. Subcommittees of experts have continued to work through the summer, and another full-dress meeting of the commission is expected soon.

Reports filtering through a heavy veil of secrecy indicate that commission members are split three ways.

One faction wants to stand pat on the church's present condemnation of all contraceptives. Another is prepared to do a complete about-face and approve any medically-acceptable method of regulating births. The third group feels that the church can approve the new anovulatory birth control pills, but cannot condone other contraceptive methods.

There is danger in the dramatic progress toward Christian unity which has been achieved in recent years, says one of the great pioneers of the ecumenical movement.

Dr. W. A. Visser 'T Hooft, general secretary of the World Council of Churches since its inception, fears that Christians will now be tempted to "stop half-way instead of going to the very end."

It's wonderful for Christians to be nice to one another and to work together, he told an audience in Geneva recently. But courtesy and cooperation are not a substitute for full reunion.

Japan's United Church of Christ has come up with a new kind of ministry which U.S. denominations might well consider.

It is operating a church-sponsored truck stop for long-haul truck drivers.

Students Ending Forestry Camp Summer Stay

RUSTON (Special) — Twenty-three advanced forestry students of Louisiana Tech are completing a nine-week stay at the summer camp on Corney Lake near Bernice, where they have been obtaining practical experience to supplement classroom study.

Tech forestry staff members stationed with the students include E. R. Audrulat, associate professor of forest management; John Kuprionis, associate professor of silviculture, and Ernest J. Russell, associate professor of forestry.

The summer camp forestry students are:

James C. Cade, Natchitoches; Quincy Paul Cornwell, Urania; Richard H. Ellis, Ruston; James A. Estes, Elmer; Jerry Lee Glaze, Minden; John Allan Gore, Bossier City; Samuel H. Gravel, Alexandria; David M. Green, Dubach.

Charles R. Gremillion, Monroe; Robert Glenn Haddox, Columbia; Clarence D. Hearn, Minden; James R. Holman, Hodge; Nelson R. Jodon, Crowley; Denver H. Martin, Goldonna; Victor H. Morrish, Jennings; Michael A. Nolan, Ruston.

Donald W. Ratcliff, Minden; Ronald D. Sharbono, Mangham; Johnny R. Spears, Minden; James H. Smart, Pollock; Travis L. Taylor, Goldonna; Arthur G. Varvoutis, Pompano, Fla.; Fred E. White, Ruston.

Upon completion of the summer camp courses, these students will be seniors, according to L. P. Blackwell, head of the forestry department of the college.

Subjects taught at the camp are forest mensuration, forest engineering, ecology, forest genetics and aerial photo interpretation.

How To Keep Well

PARKINSONISM ON THE INCREASE

Most victims of parkinsonism have a set facial expression, shuffling gait, and tremor. The condition can be recognized at a glance and does not require complicated hospital tests to make the diagnosis. The disease progresses when untreated but the outlook is not hopeless. New drugs and brain surgery control the most common symptoms.

Manifestations develop so slowly that the individual is unaware of having the disorder until the possibility is suggested by a friend or relative. The shaking, for example, begins as a rhythmic tremor of the thumb and index finger of one hand, especially when the arm is at rest following excitement or exertion. In time, the tremor starts whenever the arm is resting and finally spreads to the other hand, and ultimately the head nods back and forth.

Meanwhile the victim becomes aware of a general slowing and muscular stiffness leading to difficulty in writing, dressing, and maintaining balance. The mind remains clear and the majority speak intelligently into the movements of the tongue, jaw, and larynx are slowed.

The number of Americans with Parkinson's disease has increased from 900,000 to more than 1,200,000 in the last decade. It is a common disorder of the elderly and the prevalence is likely to rise with our longer life span.

Many drugs are available to combat symptoms. This is fortunate because older people are more sensitive to medicines and a variety helps. Artane, Pagitane, Kemadrin, and Akinetone are useful in combating muscle rigidity, tremor, depression, and inertia. Cogentin lessens muscle spasms, stiffness, and the frozen expression. Remedies for complications also are available.

Physical therapy and exercise are most important. Vigorous massage softens the muscles and limbers the joints. These maneuvers help prevent the drooping of the spine and head, the propulsive gait, and poor balance.

The neurosurgical techniques deal with the part of the brain responsible for the tremor. The area is destroyed by alcohol, thermal heat, or freezing. From 80 to 85 per cent of those considered ideal candidates for the procedures are definitely benefited.

Area Students To Perform In All-State Band

This year's All-State Marching Band, composed of 100 bandmen and one drum major, picked from 46 Louisiana high schools, will perform between halves of the annual All-Star high school football game Thursday night, August 5, at Tiger Stadium, Baton Rouge.

Prior to their game performance, the student musicians with their school band directors will attend a four-day clinic in music fundamentals and marching techniques, which begins Monday at LSU, according to Dr. Louise M. Alton of the Louisiana Tech music department, who is president of the Louisiana Music Educators Association.

Clinic chairman will be Milton L. Bush, band director at Behrman High School, New Orleans, with William F. Swor, LSU director of bands, serving as host chairman.

During its game performance Thursday, the All-State Band will be directed by Peyton Crowder, assistant director of bands, Mississippi State University, Starkville.

Sponsors of the band's half-time show and the clinic, Dr. Alton said, are the state music educators association and the Louisiana Coaches Association in cooperation with the State Department of Education.

Representing Monroe and area are:

Ouachita Parish High School—Jack White, director; Jerry Beckham, Carolyn Donovan and Rita Via.

Neville High School, Monroe—Joe Caskey, director; Phil Scharf.

West Monroe High School, West Monroe—Henry Ken, director; Danny Lee Barr, Ken Garrison.

Vidalia High School—Tommy Latham, director; Ronny Herbert, Charlotte Mills; Leland D. Newman, Terry Sweeney, Ralph White.

Ferriday High School—R. F. Lincoln, director; Rowena Henderson, Alma Ruth Spivey.

Rayville High School—Reggy Vaughn, director; Janis Powell, Sandra Thomas.

Mrs. T. writes: Every day in hot water I drink two to four quarts of lemonade (with sugar). Am I harming myself by drinking so much liquid?

REPLY

No, but some people develop indigestion, diarrhea, canker sores, or fever blisters (herpes simplex) from too much citrus fruit.

TRANQUILIZERS

A reader writes: If a person takes six to eight tranquilizers every day for more than six years, will it be harmful?

REPLY

Probably not, but the answer depends upon the type and dosage of tranquilizer.

SMOKING AND SUGAR

E. T. writes: Can smoking cigarettes lead to sugar in the urine?

REPLY

No. Cigarettes are blamed for many things and there is no need to include this possibility.

EAR NOISES

J. R. writes: Could high blood pressure cause buzzing ears?

REPLY

Yes, but other origins should be considered. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on ear noises.

Fence, Blacktop Being Added To Jena's Airport

JENA (Special) — Improvements being added to the Jena airport include fencing and a blacktop road and parking lot.

The Louisiana Department of Highways began construction Thursday of a 300-foot approach road and a 50 by 100-foot parking lot for cars.

A bid for installment of a fence around the field is being processed and a work order is expected from the Department of Public Works within the next two weeks.

The Public Works department recently completed construction of a 3000-foot runway and 100 by 300-foot apron on the Jena field.

Other improvements planned include runway lights and a rotating beacon to make landings and takeoffs at night possible. The LaSalle parish Police Jury, which operates the field, will open bids for this project at its August meeting next Tuesday.

Two Given 25 Years For Helping Russia

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI)—A U. S. Army sergeant and a former sergeant were sentenced Friday to 25 years in prison each for spy conspiracy charges. They had pleaded guilty to lesser charges after first being accused outright of giving U.S. secrets to Russia.

U.S. District Judge Oren R. Lewis passed the sentences to Sgt. Robert Lee Johnson, 43, a former Pentagon courier, and James Allen Mintkenbaugh, of San Martin, Calif., a former Arlington, Va., real estate agent.

The two pleaded guilty June 7 to charges of conspiring to obtain American defense secrets and acting as Russian agents.

Each of two conspiracy counts carried a maximum 10-year sentence and the third count, of acting as Soviet agents without notifying the secretary of state, carried a five-year maximum sentence. Judge Lewis imposed the maximum term for each count and decreed the sentences run consecutively rather than concurrently.

The charges against the pair were reduced by the government early last month. The original charges of espionage could have drawn the death penalty.

Mintkenbaugh and Johnson pleaded guilty April 15 when arraigned on the stiffer charges. Johnson was arrested April 5 while on duty in the Pentagon. Mintkenbaugh was picked up at a relatives home in Castro Valley, Calif. They were indicted the following day by a federal grand jury in Richmond, Va.

Johnson and Mintkenbaugh both served with the Army in Berlin during the 1950s. Mintkenbaugh was discharged in 1956.

The original indictment against them charged they used cigarette lighters, hollowed-out shoe heels and batteries to conceal and pass information about U.S. secrets to the Russians.

The FBI charged each received up to $300 a month for spy missions that ranged from Los Angeles to Berlin. The data sold was said to cover information on military installations, missile sites and American intelligence activities both in this country and abroad.

Myrick Expects Legislators Pay Plan Approval

Confidence was expressed Friday by Sen. Spencer Myrick of Oak Grove that a majority of legislators will approve a plan of his to put lawmakers on a straight salary.

"There is some opposition to it, but it looks like a majority of the members will go for it," said Myrick.

The West Carroll-Morehouse solon is preparing a bill based on a study by the legislative council to pay legislators a salary rather than monthly expenses and per diem for legislative sessions.

"Some members are receiving pretty good pay," he said. "It depends on whether the man is on the inside, whether he's close to the governor."

Myrick was referring to lawmakers serving on interim committees which pays $35 to $50 daily for lawmakers who are appointed to the committees by the governor.

Myrick's idea, he said, would provide a salary of from $7,000 to $7,500 annually for legislators, who presently draw $250 per month for expenses except when the Legislature is in session. Lawmakers draw $50 per day during a session, plus mileage.

Lawmakers serving on interim committees are paid per diem. Acts creating some of the committees provided that solons must receive $50 per day for committee work.

Myrick said he would introduce his salary bill in the 1966 general session.

"In my opinion the membership would serve better," he said.

The Public Affairs Research Council and the Council For A Better Louisiana are making studies of legislative pay, Myrick said, adding, "We find in the national legislative workshops most states recommend it."

Myrick said the average pay of a legislator for the past four or five years would be used as a base for working out a formula on his salary plan.

College Makes Chemical Tests To Assist City

Northeast State College has completed a series of chemical tests assisting the city in the operation of the Water Pollution Control Center here.

Tests using equipment similar to that being installed at Monroe's sewage treatment plant were conducted by Dr. William Easley, head of Northeast's chemistry department.

Rich Inzina, chemist for the Monroe plant, participated in the tests.

City Finance Commissioner H. W. McSherry said Friday that because of the work done by Northeast, the city gained valuable information concerning water pollution control.

He said a laboratory is being completed at the center to guide the operation of sewage treatment before the disposal is discharged into the Ouachita River.

A training school for employees will begin Monday under the supervision of engineer Dick Harper.

The center, slated for operation Aug. 15 at a cost in excess of $3 million, will be operated by 11 employees.

Supervisor 37 Years Retiring

John Burdine, an operations and maintenance supervisor at Louisiana Power & Light Company's Sterling steam electric generating station, will retire today after more than 37 years service.

He joined the company in April, 1928, as a turbine attendant. Later he was relief control room operator, and then became a full time control room operator at the plant. He was promoted to operations and maintenance supervisor in 1959.

Out Of Bounds

Back With The Sticks

With Stuart Hill

After a layoff of a week or so, it's about time to get back with some sticks talk. Not long ago we overheard a couple of golfers speculating on the success of a rookie pro not unknown to the Monroe area.

Homero Blancas has carried home the Bayou DeSiard Cotton States trophy for the past three years and is the only amateur to win the tourney three times in a row. His winning efforts in Monroe, along with some of the more publicized feats he pulled off in his home state of Texas, has created much local interest in the PGA rookie.

Blancas turned pro in January and didn't join the current tour until April but has picked up a total of $21,403.11 without winning a single tournament.

The best finish he has posted during his brief tour has been a third place tie in the Canadian Open. Last week he added $2,050.00 to his purse with a tie for eighth in the Insurance City Open in Hartford, Conn.

Blancas had a good chance to win the Canadian tourney but declared that a disastrous 42 strokes on the front nine in the opening round cost him the title. "Wrong club selection," is how Blancas explained the 42 strokes, a total we would be glad to have anywhere.

Veterans of the tour are becoming aware of Blancas' potential.

Gary Player says: "Nobody can say for sure who'll be a great champion, but he sure has a chance."

"I would certainly say he's one of the brighter prospects coming along and he has the ability to score well," throws in Arnold Palmer.

"He's the finest prospect," says Charley Siford, "since Jack Nicklaus turned pro."

At least one thing is certain, his turning pro leaves the upcoming Cotton States title wide open, and Winnie Cole assures us there will be quite a field shooting for the crown.

Something For Duffers

It's always good to spin a few tales to make the duffers, including us, feel happy.

Ernie Nerlich, a 46-year-old pro from Toronto had to settle for a 14 on the par four 18th hole in the second round of the Canadian Open.

He drove out of bounds twice and hit five from the tee. Number six went over the green and down a hill the pro called a, "cliff." Seven and eight he played on his knees to remove the ball from a bush and got halfway back up the hill. Number nine hit a man in the chest and the ball went back to its original lie. Next the ball landed on top of a stump and he had to use a putter to get it off. Then he three putted the green.

Don't let those 11's get you down.

We picked up a lot of good experience while at the Louisiana Sports Writers convention recently in New Orleans. Most of the golfing experience came from making bets, since physical limitations would allow us to play only five holes.

Buck Peden, sports editor of the Natchez Democrat, and a Navy man with quite a record of service in the Natchez-Vidalia area, was our pick. We were taking Buck even on holes until Bill Carter, Alexandria Town Talk, offered to give our boy a stroke on a dollar a hole. Carter was the one we were betting against and we knew the bet to be a shoo-in.

Peden won the tourney but he and Carter split the holes. So we didn't win or lose anything on two bets, but Carter explained that in giving our boy a stroke a hole, he was adding a stroke and he then demanded his 18 bucks.

We are asking Frank Leach of Jeanerette, corresponding secretary for the State Golf Association for a ruling.

The guy that wrote the USGA and asked that a hole-in-one be called an unplayable lie was turned down. It seems that he got tired of footing the celebration bill for members of his foursome after scoring an ace and requested the ruling.

Lumpe's Single Leads Detroit By White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Jerry Lumpe's two-out two-run single off ace relief pitcher Eddie Fisher in the ninth inning lifted Detroit to a 3-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox Friday night.

Lumpe's winning hit to right field came just after Don Wert lined into a double play with the bases loaded.

Fisher, now 11-5, came in at the start of the ninth, walked Bill Freehan and gave up singles to Dick McAuliffe and Jake Wood. Wert then lined to Bill Skowron, who stepped on Lumpe for the double play. Fisher, however, singled in Freehan and McAuliffe.

Juan Pizarro, making his first start since coming off the disabled list last Monday following a month layoff because of a shoulder injury, was superb in the early innings.

The Puerto Rican southpaw who won 19 games last year, held Detroit hitless in the first three innings.

Meanwhile, the White Sox took a 1-0 lead against Mickey Lolich when Ken Berry doubled in the third and scored on Don Buford's single.

Detroit tied it in the fifth when Al Kaline walked, advanced to third on Horton's second single and scored while Cash was bounding into a force play.

KIEV, USSR, (AP) — A siege of colds and leg ailments blunted United States hopes of a second straight resounding victory over the Soviet Union today and Sunday in the annual head-to-head meeting of the world's top track powers.

Bill Mills, Olympic 10,000-meter champion, is on the doubtful list with infected tonsils. Two other distance aces, Bob Schul and schoolboy Gerry Lindgren, have had colds. Hurler Rex Cawley and miler Jim Ryan have damaged legs.

These casualties are certain to cost Uncle Sam previous points in his bid to repeat last year's one-sided 139-97 triumph in the men's division and the remarkably good showing in the women's events, won by the Russians 59-48.

The over-all 32-point edge for the United States was the largest in the history of the dual rivalry. The American men have never lost and the women have never won in six previous meetings.

The most serious and disappointing casualty is Mills, the part Indian from Pine Ridge, S.D., and Oceanside, Calif., who scored the biggest surprise of the 1964 Tokyo Olympics.

Mills, active on the continent for the last month, showed up in

Cleveland Beats New York, 5-0 With Long Ball

NEW YORK (AP) — Two-run home runs by Joe Azcue and Fred Whitfield and a solo shot by Chuck Hinton accounted for all the scoring as Cleveland blanked New York 5-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Sonny Siebert and Don McMahon Friday night.

Azcue connected in the fifth against Yankee starter Al Downing, 9-10. Then Hinton and Whitfield wrapped it up in the ninth against reliever Pedro Ramos.

Siebert worked the first seven innings, permitting just three hits and McMahon finished up. The victory was Siebert's 11th against six losses.

The Yankees threatened only once against Siebert. Tom Tresh was hit by a pitched ball, Elston Howard reached on Larry Brown's error and Joe Pepitone dropped a single into short center, loading the bases with none out in the second.

But Siebert bore down, getting Clete Boyer on a pop foul and striking out Roger Repoz and Downing to end the threat.

McMahon came on in the eighth after Siebert complained of a soreness in his back.

Number Eight Aced 2 Times In Same Day

The eighth green at the Municipal Golf Course became a me happy hunting grounds of at least two golfers Friday as both poked aces on the par three 140-yard hole.

Alan Knight, a 12-year-old, playing with Anne Burks of the same age, stroked a three wood the required distance early in the afternoon.

Later Jim Shipp also notched his first ace with a seven iron.

Earl Ingram, Hugh Hyman and Charles Taylor were playing with Shipp.

Four Way Battle Looms For AA Fuel Dragsters

A four way battle of the AA-fuel dragsters is on tap tonight at the Bob Harmon Memorial Raceway.

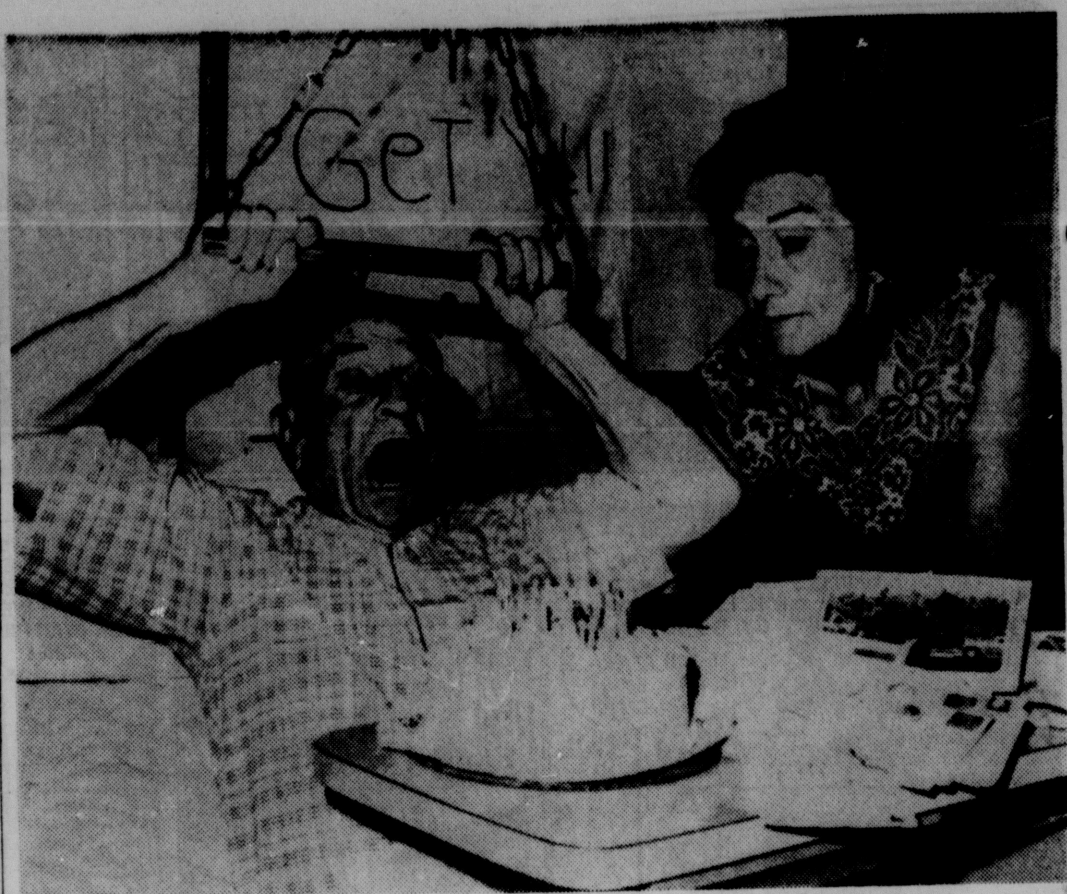

The Anderson Brothers-Simpson racing team of Dallas will be out to top the elapsed time record of 7.66 for the quarter, set by Waites Simpson of the team last month.

Terry Cunningham of the Cumid and Cunningham team of New Orleans will be on hand to challenge the Texans for the best track time. Along with these two top railracers will Al Waites and Doug Mead of New Orleans.

Along with the feature event will be a complete elimination in all classes of altered, factory experimental, modified production, super stock and regular class.

Track officials predict a large attendance of out of town drivers. Time trials begin at 7:30 p.m. and eliminations start at 7:30 p.m.

Homers By Wine, Callison Power

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two-run homers by Bobby Wine and John Callison helped Lou Burdette earn his first victory in almost a year Friday night as Philadelphia defeated the New York Mets 5-3.

Burdette, who has lost six this year — two before coming to the Phillies May 30 — last won on Sept. 2, 1964, when he beat Cincinnati for the Chicago Cubs 3-0. The 38-year-old right-hander allowed six hits, walked only one and struck out one in 7 1/3 innings.

Gary Wagner came on with one out, one run in and two aboard in the eighth, and gave up a run-scoring single to Joe Christopher but preserved Burdette's victory.

Cookie Rojas, who had three hits, singled in the third, and Callison drove one over the right field fence for his 23rd of the year.

Western Amateur Tourney

Marty Fleckman Holds On To Take Medalist Honors

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Marty Fleckman, NCAA champion from the University of Houston, fought off a sizzling final 36-hole rally by 18-year-old Greg Pitzer of Westwood Village, Calif., to win medalist honors Friday in the 63rd Western Amateur golf tournament.

Fleckman, 21, closed with a two-under-par 69 over the treacherous 7,000 yard Point O' Wood's course for a 72-hole total of 290 — six strokes off regulation.

Pitzer, runnerup in the Western Amateur junior last year and a Stanford enrollee this fall, put on the best sub-par blast of the qualifying section with a 69-70 for a 292.

Giants Blast Past Braves With Haller

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tom Haller, batting .227 going into the game, hit a home run and double, driving in five runs, in support of Bob Shaw's seven-hit pitching, as the San Francisco Giants defeated Milwaukee 9-2 Friday night.

Willie McCovey and Willie Mays also homered for the Giants, who climbed past the Braves into third place in the National League.

Mays' blast to left in the fifth, his 24th, was his first hit in 25 at bats and his first home run and

Local Dixie Seniors Take State Crown

COLFAX (Special) — Monroe blasted Grant Parish for 13 hits while Tom Brown pitched a five-hitter and picked up two hits to aid Monroe in a 12-0 conquest over Grant Parish and the State Dixie Senior Baseball crown.

Brown struck out eight batters while going the distance. Grant Parish had to defeat Morehouse Parish, 4-2 in an early afternoon game to move into the finals.

Charles Floyd led the Monroe hitting attack with a three for three effort, including two doubles. Roy Holloway, Thursday night's winner, also went three for three including a triple. Catcher Don Corbin picked up two hits in three times at bat and Skeeter Boyd doubled. Ken Peters and James Hale aided the cause with singles.

The Monroe team, scheduled to meet Georgia in the Dixie Senior World Series opener Monday at 10 a.m. in Meridian, Miss., will leave Sunday morning for the tourney site.

The group will be housed at the Meridian College.

Ranchers Say Jets Stop Rain; Air Force Scoffs

CARRIZOZO, N.M. (AP) — "We see clouds build up, the jet airplanes come, and the clouds go away."

That was the message given to the Air Force on Thursday by Corona rancher Dimmit Bond and about 50 other south-central ranchers.

"Aircraft do not stop local rain. Aircraft that might penetrate a cloud would not affect its precipitating ability."

That was the reply from Air Force Capt. David L. Donley, meteorologist at Holloman Air Force Base who said the word came from Dr. Morton Barad, chief meteorologist at the Air Force Cambridge Laboratories, Mass. Similar support came from the Air Force Air Weather Service headquarters at Scott AFB.

Ranchers and the Air Force met at the request of Lincoln County News publisher Paul Payton who said ranchers had been complaining for some time that the Air Force jets were dissipating promising rain clouds.

"We laid on the scientific facts," said Lt. Col. Norman Blomgren, chief of operations for the Air Force Missile Development Center at Holloman.

Irving Crockett, whose ranch is west of Corona, said his "windmill is the turning point for low-level flights and I have seen the planes move the clouds out."

The U.S. Weather Bureau chief in Albuquerque, H. L. Jacobson, was asked to comment: "I doubt very much if there is anything man has made that could affect precipitation so that man would see it," Jacobson said. "Jet energy is infinitesimal compared with the elements involved (in precipitation)."

Bond produced a letter he said he had received from state engineer Steve Reynolds to the effect that jets penetrating the clouds could have some effect on the weather.

Reynolds said in Santa Fe, "It is possible that jet aircraft penetrating those clouds could affect those clouds as far as precipitation. My guess is that the effect of a single penetration would have small effect, but it is possible."

"The fact that clouds dissipate after aircraft pass through them might be coincidental."

Reynolds said the greatest number of clouds over New Mexico dissipate without precipitation with or without outside influences.

Payton said he suggested that the Air Force weather experts stand watch with some ranchers and arrange to have some jets do some cloud penetrating so that both sides could watch the results at the same time.

Blomgren said he wasn't too enthused about the idea.

"We have given them the facts. The planes have to fly and we have training schedules."

RHEE FUNERAL TUESDAY

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Funeral services will be held Tuesday at Chungdong Methodist Church for Dr. Syngman Rhee, South Korea's first president who died last week in Honolulu. He was 90.

To work this out you would have to have two clouds under identical influences, send a jet through one and see if the clouds behaved differently. To get such ideal conditions and set up the flights and have men standing by would be a time-consuming thing."

Miss Frances Blair Is Complimented At Party

Miss Frances Gail Blair, bride-elect of Jerry Calvin Allen and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blair, was honored at a tea held Wednesday afternoon in the reception room of the First National Bank in West Monroe. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Allen and their wedding will be an event of August 6 in First Baptist church of West Monroe.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. T. O. Walter, Mrs. Martha Browder, Mrs. J. M. Edmiston, Mrs. Oscar L. Harrell and Mrs. H. L. Cherry. Miss Blair greeted her guests at the door, assisted by Mrs. Edmiston, Mrs. Blair, Mrs. Allen and Miss Browder.

The refreshment table was laid with aqua net over an aqua linen table cloth. At one end was placed a crystal punch bowl and a massive arrangement of yellow flowers adorned the opposite end while silver candelabra holding 8 aqua candles each formed the centerpiece for the table.

Mrs. T. O. Walter presided at the guest book table which was covered with white lace and graced with a single aqua candle beside the white guest book.

Mrs. Oscar Harrell and Mrs. H. L. Cherry alternated with the serving courtesies.

Charity Bridge Game Set Here For August 6th

Top bridge players in more than two hundred cities of the United States and Canada will compete with one another, playing the identical set of hands at the same time as they are played at the Summer National Championships of the American Contract Bridge League in Chicago, Illinois on the evening of August 6. The game here will be held at Bayou DeSiard Country Club beginning at 7:15 p.m. Entry fees will benefit the ACBL Charity campaign which last year gave nearly a quarter of a million dollars to the American Cancer Society and the United Cerebral Palsy Association.

Burgess-Read Wedding Party Feted At Dinner

The wedding tonight of Miss Frances Nell Read and Louis Edward Burgess was inspiration for the rehearsal dinner held Friday evening in the Gold Room of the Holiday Inn in Ruston. Miss Read and Mr. Burgess will be married in an evening ceremony in Farmerville Methodist church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Read and Mr. Burgess is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Burgess of Monticello, Illinois.

The head table, where the bridal pair were seated, was centered with a low arrangement of white flowers and alabaster love birds. At either end of the table were candelabra arrangements of white tuberoses draped with smilax. Small tables featured candle arrangements of fresh green foliage and seasonal white flowers.

The bride-elect, wearing a corsage of white cymbidium orchids on her green silk gown, and the future groom presented gifts to their attendants.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. E. A. Tully, and Mrs. Bess Jernigan, grandmother and aunt of the groom-elect and both of Cuero, Texas; Mrs. John Singleton and Mrs. Frank McCullom of Houston, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kull of Columbus, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stevens of Chicago, Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Walsh of Monticello, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. William Watson of Leland, Mississippi; and Misses Tamzin Fratz and Bridget Allman of Monticello, Illinois.

Hints From Heloise

Scouring Powder And Socks Shine Windows

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

Washing windows can be a chore, especially since the outside of our windows get water spotted, and this is very hard to remove.

I think I have found the answer:

Some types of scouring powders come in cake form. I drop this cake into the toe of an old worn-out sock, then dip the sock in hot water. The cake of scouring powder will start to dissolve a little bit. Use this sock (with the cake in it), while it is warm, to rub over your window panes!

Naturally, this will leave a white film on the glass, and when you see this film beginning to turn opaque (partially dry), take a soft cloth, or another old sock, and begin to wipe the window. It will take more than one sock, because it will get wet quickly.

If you will take a third clean cloth (I use a portion of a clean, old bath towel), you can shine the glass beautifully.

The greatest advantage of using this method is that you don't need buckets of water. You just need a little pan of water to redampen the sock, and if the sock becomes very soiled, replace it with another old one.

This method can also be used inside, without dripping water all over the house.

Wives will find that this method takes less energy and is inexpensive. It is also easier on the hands, as you don't have to put them in a harsh cleaning mixture.

Another Mommie

Now, that's a quick trick, if I ever saw one. I did find a block, or cake, of this scouring powder, and it was terrific but don't use the cake unless it's inside the cotton sock. It might scratch the glass.

I also found a substitute. Cut an old, unmated sock in half (be sure it doesn't have a hole in the toe!), and dump about half a cupful of dry scouring powder into the bottom part of it.

Fold the sock over, dampen, and use it just like our friend said.

What do you use the top of the sock for??? Lay it on top of the scouring gadget you have just made. . . saves your hands!

And never wash windows when the sun is shining on them. Causes streaks, etc.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I have a small job of beating, such as custard for a pie, or instant pudding mix, etc., I just take one of my mixer beaters and beat the custard by hand with it!

It is real quick, and I don't have to get out the entire electrical equipment.

Mrs. Cecil Goodin

Dear Heloise:

We keep a can opener and some paper cups and plastic spoons in the glove compartment of our automobile.

If we can't make it home for lunch on time with our little ones, we can always buy a can of fruit, a little box of yogurt (which they love), some cheese or cottage cheese, and have a picnic.

The children look forward to these outings.

Eyrlis

Dear Heloise:

Your wonderful net made a big hit at a bridal shower, as I made 84 favors by doing the following:

1. Folding an 18 inch square of white net to make a three inch square.

2. Pinning a spring of lily-of-the-valley to the net, and tying two novelty wedding rings to the stem of the flower with a piece of narrow ribbon.

3. Tucking in a slip of paper, on which the following message was typed: "Remove the trim — It's a Heloise dish rag." Now 84 more women know about your nylon net!

Frances Schwarz

And here's 84 thousand thanks.

Afternoon Bridal Tea Entertains Judy Cooper

Miss Judy Carol Cooper, bride-elect of Terry Lynn Martin and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Cooper, was complimented with an afternoon tea July 27 in the home of Mrs. D. O. Dunagan, 305 Marie Drive in West Monroe. Miss Cooper and Mr. Martin have planned their marriage for August 12 in First Baptist Church of West Monroe, with Dr. Clifton Tennison officiating.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Rex Furlow, Mrs. Goldie Smith, Mrs. Dunagan, Mrs. O. D. Hollis, Mrs. E. L. Womack, Mrs. Harold Oetgen, and Mrs. Flave Trichell.

Mrs. Trichell greeted the guests at the door while the receiving line was composed of Mrs. Dunagan, Mrs. J. W. Cooper, mother of the bride-elect; the honoree and Mrs. Otha Martin, mother of the prospective groom.

Miss Sue Wright registered the guests at the bride's book table which was covered with white organdy interlaced with white ribbon. A bride-doll provided the decor for the table while attached to the crystal chandelier another bride-doll, resting on a half moon mobile, floated with the breeze.

The refreshment table was centered with an epergne of pink carnations, roses and ferns which accented the pink tablecloth overlaid with lace.

Mrs. Furlow and Mrs. Hollis alternated at the silver punch service, as Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Oetgen presided over the coffee service. Tea girls were Misses Sherry Wright, Missy Hollis, and Sandy Wright.

The honoree was wearing a pink linen trousseau model with fringed embroidered tiers on the slim skirt and matching pink accessories.

Approximately 60 guests called between the appointed hours.

Cereal Cookies

No-bake cookies are as nourishing as breakfast cereal, because they contain just that. Heat 1 cup of quick rolled oats in a preheated 350-degree oven for 10 minutes. Beat 2-3 cup of soft butter until creamy; beat in 2-3 cup of sifted confectioners' sugar until fluffy. Stir in 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla and the toasted oats. Add 2 (1 ounce) squares of chocolate, melted; mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper. Makes 2 1/2 dozen cookies.

Dear Abby

Never Too Old To Be A Good Scout, Try It

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are 61 years old, and I think he's entering his second childhood. The plant where he works has a NATURE LOVERS' CLUB, and he has joined. He is the same man who refused to walk to the corner to pick up a loaf of bread, but last week he went on an overnight hike (mixed company) on what they called a "botanical excursion."

He didn't bring back a leaf or a twig, but he did bring back a case of poison oak on his back! I am so disgusted with him I could throttle him. He's a grandfather (many times) and I don't know what's gotten into him. Should I make him quit this club? He wears his "thistle" pin on his underwear.

CANADIAN

DEAR CANADIAN: "Grandpa" may be too old to be a Boy Scout, but not to be a "Good Scout." If you are wondering, become a nature lover yourself. (And when you learn why Grandpa wears his thistle pin on his underwear, please let me know!)

DEAR ABBY: Our minister's wife is a party pusher. She has organized all sorts of social activities within the church membership, such as a choral group, an art class, a camera club, a flower - arranging class, etc. It's fine for those taking part. But what about their husbands and wives? I am not normally a jealous person, but I don't appreciate having my husband run to the camera club to enjoy himself with the wives of other men who are absent because they don't happen to be interested in photography. I could have joined the choral group, but my husband can't sing and I didn't want to join without him. I think the minister's wife is stirring up a lot of trouble. I'd like your opinion.

WITHHOLD MY NAME

DEAR WITHHOLD: Don't blame the minister's wife. If you want to be with your husband, join the club.

DEAR ABBY: Write to ABBY. News - Star. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Previews On Fall Fashion

FLORENCE de SANTIS ... new way with fall costumes, the coat and dress made of the same fabric, with the coat lining in a contrasting color or print.

... the contradiction in fall silhouettes, with everything junior in low-waisted looks, everything sophisticated in high-waist fit with hemline flare.

... new kooky little slips for the kooky little disco dance dresses, in colors like black bound with pink, pink bound with green, with lower necklines.

... extra colorful knits for fall, in skimmer dresses with sleeves of contrast color, or stripes down sides and sleeves, in bold stripes or bands on yokes.

... the fall colors for day: gray, camel and white, some purple or grape, the sudden size of orange in wool coats and suits, pale blue with brown.

... the fall colors for evening: pale apricot, pink or blue, strong goldenrod yellow and brown, some black crepe but more often white, silver-gray.

... the importance of hats to the total look, very often scarved to wrap around the neck, in some collections space-age shaped, but always costume-mated.

... the jeweled look for fall evenings, as a collar or entire yoke on a long gown, as jet trim on evening suits of satin, as stones embroidered stiffly onto coats.

Transport Ships Shifted For Duty In Viet Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced Friday six transport ships which have been in service to Europe are being shifted to move U.S. forces to South Viet Nam.

It said regular scheduled sailings of the six Military Sea Transportation Service vessels in the Atlantic have been cut off until further notice.

The United States has run into some difficulty in getting enough bottoms to handle the growing flow of troops, arms and supplies to the Viet Nam war zone and to the far Pacific.

The ships involved are the Upshur, Darby, Buckner, Rose, Patch and Geiger.

The Pentagon said eastbound sailings of these naval transports from New York to Southampton, England, and Bremerhaven, Germany, were ended July 26.

Westbound sailings from Europe to New York will halt after Aug. 3.

New Bride Fires Shots At Spouse; Death Is Result

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A blonde San Francisco artist, daughter of millionaire real estate dealer William Woodfield, told police she fired two shots at her new husband during an early Friday morning quarrel in their luxury Pacific Heights apartment.

George Lavery was found dead in the couple's bedroom with two bullet wounds in his back.

His wife of 10 weeks, Gail Lavery, 48, was booked on suspicion of murder.

"We had a violent battle in the bedroom," she told police. "I got the gun out of the bedside table and fired twice."

She said Lavery had threatened her with a pair of wire cutters later found in the hall about 10 feet from Wavery's body.

Her attorney, George T. Davis, said the couple's marriage had been tumultuous. He said Mrs. Lavery's body was covered with welts, bruises and scratches.

"Look at her," he shouted to police. He unzipped her light, sleeveless dress to reveal bruises, some old and some new.

She winced with pain as police thrust her into the squad car.

Davis said Mrs. Lavery was beaten so unmercifully and over such a long period of time that he would insist her entire body be photographed in color.

Mrs. Lavery is a widely known San Francisco painter whose professional name is Claire Wright. She maintains a studio in a building owned by her father.

Gen. Walker's Suit Against AP Upheld

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A $500,000 judgment won by former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker in a libel suit against The Associated Press was upheld Friday by the 2nd Court of Civil Appeals. The AP said it would appeal the decision.

Walker was awarded $500,000 in actual damages and $300,000 in punitive damages by a jury in 17th District Court on June 19, 1964. Walker's suit was based on The AP's account of his activities during a riot at the University of Mississippi in 1962 over the admission of James H. Meredith, a Negro.

Dist. Court Judge Charles A. Murray later set aside the $300,000 award for punitive damages, saying The AP was not actuated by malice. The Texas appeals court Friday affirmed the lower court's action and rejected Walker's cross appeal.

"In view of all the surrounding circumstances, the rapid and confused occurrence of events of the occasion in question, and in the light of all the evidence," the court said, "we hold that appellee (Walker) failed to prove malice, as defined, and the trial court was correct in setting aside said findings."

The AP contended that it was awarded Police Commissioner L. B. Sullivan of Montgomery, Ala. who sued the New York Times and four clergymen. The Texas court made no specific reference to this decision, but did say, "We find no application of the authorities cited by the appellant to the fact of this case."

No Ruling Given On Reggie Case By Commission

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Commission on Governmental Ethics gave no advisory opinion on whether former Welfare Commissioner Edmund Reggie's part ownership of three nursing homes created a conflict of interest, a statement issued by the group showed Friday.

Civil Service Director W. W. McDougall, secretary for the commission, said the commission decided to give no opinion at its June 16-17 session, held shortly after Reggie resigned.

The opinions released Friday were the first since the commission began enforcing the code of ethics, enacted to prevent conflict of interest of state elected officials and employees.

The commission also announced it had:

- Held that Murray Hudson, member of the board of ethics for state elected officials, is not in violation of the code because of his work as legal counsel for the Missouri Pacific railroad.
- Ruled that the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission can buy airplane gasoline, maintenance and storage from a company owned by the director's brother if the company submits the lowest sealed bid.
- Ruled that "the use of annual leave by employees of the Department of Public Welfare employees to work for pay in the anti-poverty program does not violate the code of ethics."
- Held that it is a violation of the code for Leslie J. Farrow, while a member of the Board of Tax Appeals, to participate in "the receipt of compensation from insurance premiums on state insurance policies."
- Ruled that a Department of Hospitals employee who owned more than 10 per cent of a company could not have the company perform occasional business for the department unless the work is awarded by sealed bids.
- Held that a state employee who is a stockholder in an insurance company can receive premiums for insurance covering the state providing "he had nothing whatsoever to do with the awarding of such insurance."

MFD's Request To Unseat Solon May Be Invalid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A question arose Friday as to whether a valid contest has been filed by the Mississippi Freedom Democrats against Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., one of the five Mississippi congressmen the group is seeking to unseat.

Ralph Roberts, clerk of the House, said in a letter referring the cases to Speaker John McCormack, D - Mass., that the notice of contest filed with him by the Freedom Democrats against Williams was unsigned.

Accordingly, he referred to the speaker—who in turn referred them to the House Elections Committee — only the contests involving Reps. Jamie Whitten, Thomas Abernethy, William Colmer, Democrats, and Prenziss Walker, Republican.

A spokesman for the Mississippi Freedom Democrats disputed the point made by Roberts.

He said the notice of contest which was filed by the Freedom Democrats with Williams was signed, as required by law.

Whether the copy of the notice filed with the clerk of the House is signed is of no importance, he said.

Johnson's Guards Don Strange Garb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The century-old Secret Service has taken on protective coloration, so to speak, in its old age.

One veteran agent on the White House detail has been dubbed "Canon," for clerical garb and not "cannon" for the in with other black and white gun bulging beneath his jacket.

In surplice and cassock, he sat with the choir and blended

Franklin's Jury Secretary Noted In 'Who's Who'

WINNSBORO (Special) — Woodie R. Netherland, secretary-treasurer of the Franklin Parish Police Jury, has been named in the 1965-66 edition of Marquis Who's Who in the South and Southwest.

Netherland has been employed by the police jury since 1950. He is a member of the Franklin Parish Democratic Executive Committee, advisory consultant to the Louisiana Senate Investigation committee on parochial affairs, member of the Crowville Baptist church and the Crowville Masonic Lodge.

The 48-year-old Franklin parish native is a graduate of Crowville High School. He was employed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Winnsboro 1936-40; with the accounting department of the U.S.D.A. at Louisiana State University, 1941-42; Franklin parish deputy sheriff, 1943-44; with the U.S.D.A. at Winnsboro, 1944-48, and as chief deputy of the Franklin Parish Sheriff's Dept., 1948-50.

He is married to the former Jessie Lee Gullede of Crowville. They are the parents of two children, Warren Oneal and Ramona (Mrs. Billy Ray Copeland).

College Budgets Get Approval By Education Board

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Board of Education meets today to vote final approval on detailed operating budgets of 10 state universities and colleges totaling $34 million.

The money was appropriated for the institutions by the Fiscal Legislature. The schools must obtain board approval for the exact way they plan to spend their operating funds for the current fiscal year.

During the day, various board committees examined proposals which will come up in the regular board session.

The board also will go over the budgets of the state special schools for the blind, deaf and spastic children, and 31 trade schools.

Other items on the board agenda will involve such steps as:

Final plans and specifications for a Northwestern State College student facility for nursing in Shreveport.

EXPERTS SAY this imposing lane of oaks, the historic de la Ronde Oakes, may soon be just a memory unless steps are taken to preserve them. The restoration job will take about $10,000, it was reported Friday with about $5,000 a year to keep the 143-year-old trees healthy. Historic Oaks In Bad Need Of Fast Medication

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The imposing 143-year-old double row of oak trees, called the de la Ronde Oakes, may soon be just a memory unless steps are taken to keep the ancient trees healthy.

James Fondren, Tulane University landscape architect, inspected the oaks Friday and said an immediate $10,000 to $15,000 is needed to save them — with an estimated $5,000 a year to maintain care.

About a dozen of the oaks, which formed a lane leading to the old de la Ronde plantation mansion are dead due to various complications resulting from age.

Harnett T. Kane, president of the Louisiana Landmarks Society, said he hopes money can be raised from public and private sources to prevent further deterioration of the trees — often called the Pakenham Oaks.

Olin Presents Scholarship To Twin City Girl

A West Monroe girl has been awarded a four-year college scholarship by Olin Matheson Chemical Corporation.

Pamela Sue Gatlin, daughter of Mrs. Sue Allen Gatlin, received the $2,000 award at a special ceremony at Olin Forest Products Division headquarters in West Monroe. Mrs. Gatlin is an employee in the company's Accounting Department.

The scholarship was granted under a new million-man-hour scholarship safety program being conducted by the corporation.

Miss Gatlin, who graduated from West Monroe High School in May, plans to attend Northeast Louisiana State College where she expects to major in English. She was in the upper one-third of her high school graduating class.

Her mother, Mrs. Sue Gatlin, is an employee in the Olin division's Central Salary Group, which recently attained one million manhours without a disabling injury. Under a program that went into effect last January, any Olin Forest Products Division plant or group reaching a million safe manhours is eligible for a college scholarship, awarded to a son, daughter or other dependent of an employee.

To be eligible, the applicant must be a high school graduate or graduate student in good standing who has been accepted by a recognized college or university. The scholarship is worth $250 per semester, or a total of $2,000. A committee of local educators considered the applicants and made the selection.

M. H. Collet, vice president and general manager of the Olin division, congratulated the Central Salary Group for "this outstanding achievement in safety." The Central Salary Group, with 187 employees, has not had an disabling accident since February 8, 1961. Only two other Olin plants have reached a million safe manhours this year — the lumber sawmill at Huttig, Arkansas, and the corrugated container plant at Cincinnati, Ohio.

BATON ROUGE (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West ruled Friday that the first and 12th grades of West Feliciana Parish schools will be desegregated in the fall term.

He cut short a hearing on a suit filed by Negro parents, saying further testimony was unnecessary.

The judge said he would file the desegregation plan rather than order the School Board to do it.

He said he would dispose of the case immediately. Full desegregation will be required by 1968.

The West Feliciana case, he said during the hearing, was just another of the ultimate 67 cases in Louisiana, which has 67 parish and city school boards.

Parish officials want to be "taken off the hook" by a federal court order, the judge commented.

Court Puts Penalties On Town's Officials

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The two top police officials in racially troubled Bogalusa have one week in which to establish remedial law enforcement procedures to the satisfaction of federal court.

Should this fail, Police Chief Claxton Knight and Public Safety Commissioner Arnold Spiers each will be compelled to pay a daily fine of $100 for each successive day thereafter such procedures are not in effect.

U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert W. Christenberry, who found Knight and Spiers in civil contempt Thursday for failure to provide adequate protection for civil rights demonstrators acted on the recommendation of U.S. Asst. Atty. Gen. John Doar.

Doar, who heads the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division, was intervenor in a contempt suit brought by attorneys for the Congress of Racial Equality against Knight, Spiers and several lesser law enforcement officers in the southeastern Louisiana city of 22,000.

Christenberry also ruled Friday that Bogalusa Patrolman Donald Panton, 29, the only officer found guilty of civil contempt, is to study the stringent enforcement plans to be drawn up by Knight and Spiers and indicate that he knows his duties within five days following court approval of the plans. If he does not, he will be required to pay a daily $25 fine.

Panton, a husky rookie policeman, was found in civil contempt for standing by while a barber turned a water hose on two white pickets at a Bogalusa shopping center July 16.

Bogalusa has been the scene of intense civil rights activity for several months. Four crosses were reported burned in the area Thursday night but police said they did not know of the incidents.

Doar outlined a series of specific requirements to bring Bogalusa law enforcement procedures into line with an injunction issued by Christenberry July 10.

The approved recommendations, altered slightly by Christenberry, called for:

— A detailed plan for police coverage and protection of civil rights pickets, using all reasonable means to protect demonstrators on a 24 hour basis.

— A clear chain of command in the police department, particularly in written instructions to supervisory personnel.

— Written instructions to all policemen as to exact duties in protecting demonstrators in line with the July 10 injunction.

Training classes for police officers

— Compliance in writing from all police officers that they will follow plans. Should any officer refuse to sign a compliance statement, disciplinary action will be required against him.

Doar also said a plan must be developed whereby Knight and Spiers "will get out of their offices and conduct personal inspection of policemen in their duties."

Christenberry also approved a recommendation by Doar that a month report be filed with the Justice Department to assure that procedures are being carried out.

The judge set a 12-month limit on subpoenas at the request of John Artzell, attorney for Spiers and Knight. Doar had requested a 24-month probationary period.

Doar did if a breakdown in plans should occur after they have been approved by the court, the Justice Department should assume jurisdiction of Bogalusa police operation. Christenberry agreed.

West Feliciana Must Integrate 1st, 12th Grades

BATON ROUGE (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West ruled Friday that the first and 12th grades of West Feliciana Parish schools will be desegregated in the fall term.

General States Viet People Must Eventually Win Battle

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Lewis W. Walt foresees a long, bloody road to victory over the Viet Cong and declares that in the end Vietnamese — not Americans — must achieve it.

Walt is the husky commander of 23,000 U.S. Marines in Viet Nam. He was a top field leader in World War II and the Korean War.

Not all U.S. senior officers in Viet Nam support this theory of unconventional warfare with the same fervor, though phases of the French Indochina war might be considered to bear him out.

Walt said he believes his Marines and the other U.S. troops can only serve as a strong deterrent against major Viet Cong military moves aimed at chopping up and taking over the country.

He feels the job of establishing government control over the wide areas now under Viet Cong control must be handled by the Vietnamese with American support.

The general voiced confidence that victory can be won if the Vietnamese play their part.

At a lower level, one of his company commanders explained:

"When we go into a village, the peasants are going to see as few American faces as possible. We're going to send in enough Marines to help the government troops chase out the Viet Cong and make sure the Communists can't come back.

"But it's the government political, propaganda and other civic action cadres that have to win the villages back to the Saigon government. My Marines can't speak the language and just aren't trained for this sort of thing."

The company commander's words reflect a carefully defined policy set down by Walt, who averages 18 hours a day directing the defense of four American base areas in central Viet Nam.

Walt, 52, is a 6-footer who weighs 210. That's five pounds more than the 205 he packed as a Colorado State football line-man in the early '30s. The Marines call him "Big Lew."

The son of a Harveyville, Kan., farmer-rancher, Walt has spent 6½ years in the Far East. He won two Navy Crosses for combat heroism in World War II.

He is a Methodist who says: "I don't know if I am an overly religious man, but sometimes I don't know what I would do without my belief in God."

Orders Issued On Highways In LaSalle Parish

JENA (Special) — Work orders for approximately two miles of blacktopping of roads in LaSalle parish have been issued by the State Highway Department.

Eighth district highway board member W. T. McCain announced the projects and credited their approval to work of Rep. Max Maxwell of LaSalle parish and 32nd district Sen. W. L. Rambo of Georgetown.

The LaSalle parish Police Jury will provide grading, culverts and base with the highway department providing and applying hot mix and coverstone.

The projects are one-half mile of blacktop on the Pine Grove church road in Ward Eight and 1.41 miles of blacktop on the Mt. Sinia Baptist church road in ward three. The aid for the Pine Grove road amounts to $25,302.90 and for the Mt. Sinia road $10,056.70.
